KEEPING THE CHS

TRADITION

How could something be traditional yet new and special at the same time? It could be if it were part of CHS during the '91-'92 year. From homecoming floats to prom dates, the Vikings proved that tradition is more than a word, it is the Viking attitude. Tradition means spirit at games, studying in the halls before school, winning FFA teams, or flowers on Valentine's day. The way traditions were portrayed to others was as unique as the traditions themselves and the people involved. To start out the year, the seniors followed the age, old tradition of freshmen initiation. Later on in the year the varsity cheerleaders followed their tradition by going to competition in Nashville, Tennessee.

This year tradition was again a mix of endless pride and determination, not just to be the best but to do ones best. Throughout the year students worked hard to represent CHS. From 6:30 a.m. basketball practices to studying for finals and ACT tests, the Vikings lived up to their reputation. Tradition was unique because the whole student body was involved. Each face, class, and activity were part of making the '91-'92 school year something special, something traditional.

At the traditional "Octoberfest", the pep band entertains by playing a polka.

Following a longtime tradition, Amy Todd is escorted by her parents and recognized for her achievements on senior night.

The Varsity cheerleaders proudly lead the football players onto the football field.

Taking part during spirit week, Mrs. Miller, Jessie McClain, and Staci Gibson dress up like bums.

Candy Kappelman, Angie Carlson, and Mary Fuqua all agree that receiving balloons and flowers is very romantic.

FINDING YOUR

PLACE

Something could be heard as a person walked into CHS. A teacher's lecture or a student's question cut the silence that filled the halls. It was the sound of learning and could be heard down every hall. Many times students had a tendency to forget what the real purpose of school was. It slipped their minds that school was for learning, not just socializing.

When the bell rang, the scene quickly changed. As everyone headed his own way, best friends usually found each other at their special places. Without these special places, there would have been no such thing as student life at CHS. Something was special about CHS. It was not just the sports or the classes. It was the people who found their places that made these things come alive. The 200 people who made CHS what it is. Everyone from the custodians, to the students found his place and pitched in, in his own way to make this place a place of learning, fun, achievement and traditions.

Finding their place in the hall before school, Brent Hasson, Carrie Borkgren, LeAnna Ahring, Andrea Bostwick, Tara Snell and Jamie Stover do their last minute studying.

On a sunny day, students enjoy spending their noon hour outdoors.

Together, Jeremy Hepner and Toby Sipp assist Eric Hanson into the garbage can as they joke for the yearbook camera.

During the exciting Galva basketball game, Viking fans find their place standing in the bleachers trying to cheer the team to a victory.

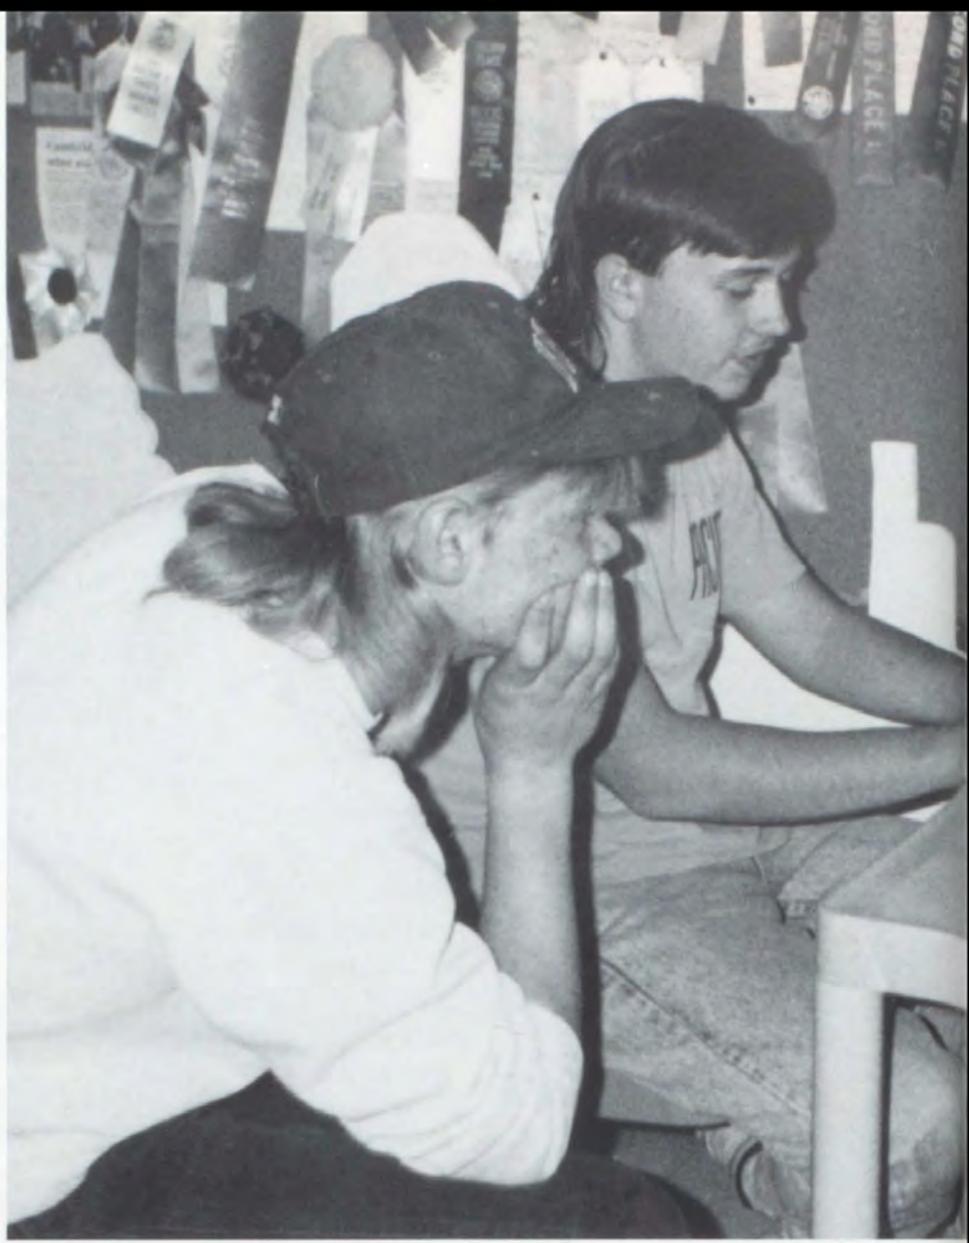

For the first pep assembly, cheerleaders Joy Sheley, Jessie McClain, and Angela Erickson get CHS students ready for the big game by performing a humorous skit.

The senior girls help the freshmen girls find their place early in the year.

Working on the computer during agriculture class, Chad Ruhnow and Darin Nimrick type in their latest assignment.

In technical drawing class, Josh Verscher and Richard Norris practice drafting.

Talking on the pay phone for Jamie Stover makes doing what's required much easier, but more expensive.

DOING WHAT'S

REQUIRED

Doing what's required isn't always easy. For some people following rules comes naturally, while others feel that rules are made to be broken. Doing what's required may vary from student to student depending on the classes he is taking.

Doing what's required in science class may be cutting up anything from a frog to a pig, which for some is the easiest part of the class. Others find it nauseating and protest the cruelty to animals.

Many students find that the physical part of doing what's required is much easier than the mental part. For a football player, doing what's required involves running laps, lifting weights, and long, hot practices.

On the other hand, there are a few students who find that even the least physical requirement of gym class is not for them. For the students who are more interested in the social part of life, doing what's required to them may be anything from talking on the phone to going to assorted parties.

Whatever decision a student makes when faced with doing what's required, his response will reflect not only on his maturity but also on his responsibility.

During marine biology, Amie Wilson and Crista Wells dissect a shark.

"Doing What's Required" for Carrie Borkgren is working in the office during her study hall.

WEEKEND

Ring! As the school bell rings at 3:30 Friday afternoon, students laugh and leave school, quickly making last minute plans as another weekend has arrived. Will it be a school game, a movie, a date, a job or a party that will occupy their time? Whatever the preference, each student agrees on one thing, and that's the fact that everyone at Cambridge High School lives for the weekend!

As Junior Alissa Carlson puts it, "No matter where I am or what I'm doing, I always have a good time. The bowling alley is probably the newest hangout spot besides the usual loop uptown." When asked, Aaron Favri replied, "I like to party, go to movies, or just drive around the Quad Cities and see some of my friends."

When the bell rings on Friday, John Hirsch, Kristi Downey, and Duane Stevens are the first ones out of the building.

On Friday night, Laura Van Meenen and Mary Fuqua enjoy the football game as they eat caramel apples.

Skiing for Amy Jeffries and Shana Palmer is the best thing to do on a winter weekend.

Finding time during his weekend to earn a little extra cash, Justin Palmer works at the concession stand.

HOMECOMING '91

"Fun and Games" for all!

Homecoming week brought out the Viking spirit in everyone. To start the week, the cheerleaders decorated the school with signs and painted windows.

During the week students showed their spirit by participating in noon hour activities and by dressing in a rather strange attire.

This year the Thursday night bonfire, was almost canceled due to the windy weather, but as the day passed the wind died down and the bonfire went on as scheduled.

That night, by candle light, the football players were lead to the front of the bleachers by the cheerleaders to the song "We Are The Champions." For entertainment the pom squad performed two routines, and the cheerleaders involved a few football players in a licorice eating contest.

Saturday morning the Homecoming parade marched through downtown Cambridge to the theme "Fun and Games." The seniors took first place with their float, "Rollin' Over the Tigers."

In the Homecoming parade, flag members Coni Dobbels, Nikki Bowman, and Tara Snell march in front of the band as it turns the corner on to Prospect Street.

During the noon hour Pogo Ball races Matt DeSplinter skillfully represents the Junior class as he bounces down the front walk.

At the Thursday night bon fire Coni Dobbels helps freshman football players, Jeff Hasson and Mike Baylor, eat their string of licorice as fast as they can.

Drum majorettes LeAnna Ahring and Rachael Vinavich lead the band while marching in the parade.

Angie Carlson takes one look at Lonny Stahl all wrapped in Saran Wrap and then bursts out laughing.

Andrea Bostwick, Suzy Bliven, and Erica Leander play their flutes as they march in the parade.

Sophomores, Shea Weyland and Sarah Dobbels wrap Joey Bayless in Saran Wrap as quickly as possible during Spirit Week.

As the day crept by, the football players grew more and more nervous. By 1:30 on Saturday, September twenty-eighth, the football stands were filled with people of all ages ready to cheer and chant for the Cambridge Vikings. This year the game ball was delivered by Victor the Viking in a limousine, courtesy of Elite Limousine. This was the first appearance made by Victor the Viking, (Amy Jeffries, the new school mascot).

Following the pre-game playing of the National Anthem and the school songs, the Cambridge Vikings kicked off to the undefeated, conference powerhouse, the ROWVA Tigers.

After the band's halftime show the teams returned to the field and continued their defensive battle for another thirty minutes. When the final horn sounded, the stands were still filled because no one had left early and the score board read 13-6 in favor of the Vikings.

Later that evening, everyone had a blast at the Homecoming dance.

"Victor the Viking" arrives.

Brent Hasson tackles the ROWVA back as Travis Stackhouse, Pat Moody, Cory Lange, and Barry Stiner move in to help him.

During the introduction of players, quarterback Brent Gustafson is lifted up by teammates, Brent Hasson, Cory Lange, and Chad Hart.

(Cheerleaders bottom) Staci Gibson, Amy Dobbels, Sunny Schnowske, Jessie McClain, Angela Erickson, Tami Walline, Joy Sheley (top) Coni Dobbels, Sarah Dobbels, Shea Weyland, Erica Leander, and Cassie Ruhnow reach the height of their pyramid as the school song ends.

At the dance Shea Weyland, Jeff Vinavich, Mark Williams, and Jessica Secymore sit at a table as they wait for the DJ to play a slow song.

Crownbearers Tommy and Amy Herges carefully deliver the crowns to the front of the gym for the official coronation of the king and queen.

Bonnie Talbott not only accompanies the concert choir but often entertains them with her antics.

Junior Toby Sipp and sophomores Chad Humphrey and Nathan Brewer are featured in the playing of Chestnuts Roasting on an Open Fire.

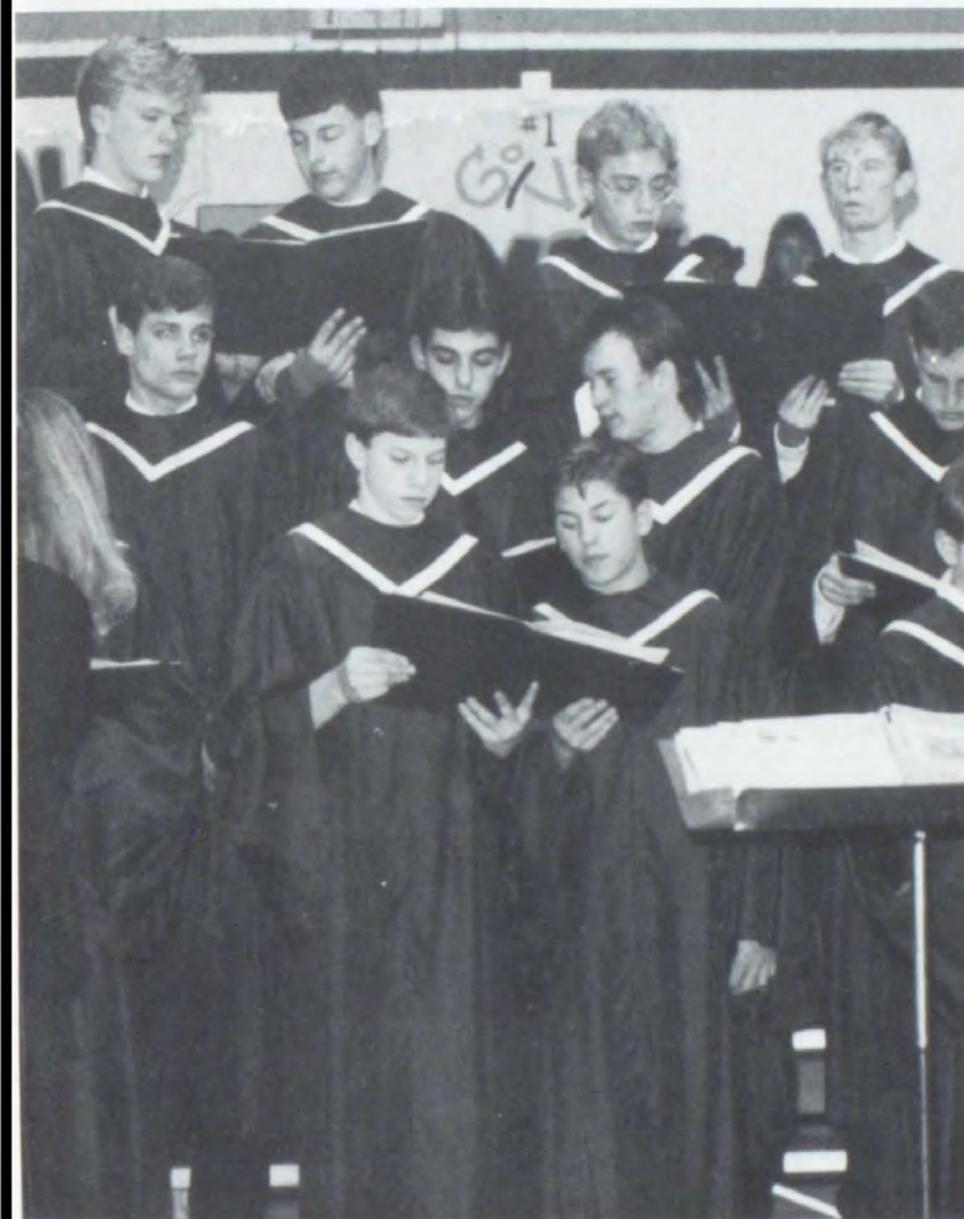

At the after concert party, hosted by Bonnie Talbott, Mrs. Daniels leads the game "Thumper."

At Christmas, the concert band had a new look. Each member was required to wear a white shirt and black pants or skirt for the performance.

Senior, Angela Erickson accompanies the choir on the chimes as they sing Carol of the Bells.

In keeping with the new dress code, Mr. Sheldon dons a tuxedo for the concert.

FFA members: Erik DeBackere, Matt Stromquist, and Justin Palmer, transfer balloons from the Ag shop to the gym for the decorating committee.

Crown Bearers, Tarrin Carey and Josh Hutchinson nervously await their cue to present the crowns.

The evening prior to the dance FHA sponsor Mrs. Rumley along with FHA members, Amy Todd and Jo Hutchinson tie a bow around the iridescent paper as they decorate the gym for the dance.

Winter Formal

"Illusions" in Blue and White.

The Winter Formal was February 15 from 8-11 p.m. with the coronation at 9:30 p.m. The theme, "Illusions," was carried out beautifully in white and royal blue. The "Illusion" was created by cascades of iridescent paper tied in the middle with shiny royal blue bows. To complete the illusion the whole gym was outlined with little white twinkle lights. When asked how she felt the dance went Mrs. Rumley said, "I feel we had a super turnout and the weather was beautiful."

This year something new was tried. A week before the dance everyone in school was given a ballot to vote for their ten favorite songs. Then from that list the top fifty were selected and the list was then sent to DJ Dean Resser to play at the dance.

Juniors Zach DeLellis and Amy Norbo enjoy a private conversation as they dance to a song played by the DJ.

When Mary Fuqua and Angie Carlson start to show off their thrashing abilities a crowd gathers around them on the dance floor.

Taking advantage of her head start, Tami Walline tries to beat her date through the obstacle course, which was set up in the hallway.

While many students dance to a favorite tune, Courtney Stone (middle) tries to get the attention of the photographer.

Sadie Hawkins

The FHA-FFA Sadie Hawkins dance was held on Saturday, March 14 from 8-11 p.m. in the high school gym.

Committees for the dance started working on getting everything set up after school on Friday. Alissa Carlson and Candy Kappelman were in charge of the obstacle course, while back drop committee, Mary Fuqua, Lola Holliday, Amy Todd, and Holly Ushrey, tried something a little different. They splattered painted a white piece of paper and wrote all the different after school activities that CHS has to offer on it in bright colors. It was very unique.

At the dance, music was provided by DJ Dean Resser. The mothers in charge of taking tickets were Lanette Carlson, Carol Dobbels, and Carol Kappelman. During the evening the girls had a chance to chase their dates through the obstacle course. At the end there was a Justice of the Peace, Marry'n Sam, who this year was played by Jolene Moody.

After successfully beating her date, Tim Ernst, through the obstacle course, Mandy Lindbeck takes him before "Marry'n Sam", Jolene Moody, for the reading of their "wedding vows".

Jaime Edmund, Dean Caras, Todd Maertens, Chad Erickson, Josh Carlson, and Nate Boberg get a little wild when Nirvana's "Smells Like Teen Spirit" is played.

Laura Van Meenen and her date Reese Berry take time out from a slow dance to show off their matching Chicago White Sox jerseys.

REMEMBER WHEN?

DO YOU REMEMBER - the day Brent Gustafson and Jeremy Hepner wore tuxedos to school all day?

DO YOU REMEMBER - when the carry-all had a smashed back door? Wonder if Mr. Sheldon knows anything about this?

DO YOU REMEMBER - when Josh Carlson paid thirty dollars to have Angela Erickson as his slave for a day?

DO YOU REMEMBER - what the entrance to the parking lot looked like during the first week of school?

DO YOU REMEMBER - what Mrs. Miller's room looked like the day she had her 7th birthday?

DO YOU REMEMBER - when the industrial arts classes built the new concession and storage building? Just a little pressure to finish by homecoming when the old building was removed a week before the game.

DO YOU REMEMBER - the new face in the office? Vicki Carrico filled the position vacated by Ellie Stackhouse's retirement.

DO YOU REMEMBER - the indian and the gypsy that visited all the classes on Halloween? Does anyone know who they were? Bonnie Talbott could it have been you and Darin Ries?

DO YOU REMEMBER - the fantastic concert presented by the Navy Sea Chanters? It was a memorable experience for all, especially Amy Todd and Travis Stackhouse who joined them in one number.

OKLAHOMA

The musical this year was "Oklahoma." It was held on Friday, April 10 and Saturday, April 11 in the high school gym starting at 7 p.m. The setting for the musical was just after the turn of the century in the Indian Territory (now Oklahoma).

MUS-ART

Highlights many talented seniors

During the concert band portion of the program, Mr. Sheldon presents the John Phillip Souza award to Rachael Vinavich for outstanding achievement in her four years as a member of the band.

As the final number on their program the concert band plays "Robin Hood Soundtrack Highlights" under the direction of Mr. Sheldon.

NAHS adviser, Mrs. Youngstrom, presents a special award to principal Mr. Caras.

Travis Stackhouse and his sister Natalie sing "Memories" from the musical Cats.

In the cafeteria, Matt Stromquist examines Bradon Bates' art project as he explains how it was created.

Student soloist, Amy Todd, accompanies herself on the piano as she sings "Save the Best for Last".

Chad Erickson, Jeff Rapp, Sunny Schnowske, and Alissa Carlson receive their art awards from Mrs. Youngstrom.

As the first of the student soloists, senior alto Angela Erickson sings "Lost in Your Eyes".

Candy Kappelman does a costume change for her special performance of "Honey Bun" and "100 Pounds of Fun" from the musical South Pacific.

Senior Brent Gustafson gets a little bit country for his solo, "There Ain't Nothin' Wrong with the Radio".

PROM

"Everything I do, I do it for you" is the theme for a romantic night.

This year's prom, with the theme "Everything I do, I do it for you" was held on Saturday, May 9, at the Holiday Inn in Moline. After many months of planning, the magical evening started for many couples with a ride in a limousine. Upon arriving, almost everyone had pictures taken and then went to the banquet room where a buffet dinner was served with the help of the sophomore slaves.

At nine o'clock, Rachael Vinavich and Jeremy Hepner were crowned as this year's queen and king by last year's royalty, Beth Van Meenen and Brady Stromquist.

Following the dance, an after-prom party was held at the Rock Island YMCA Fitness and Activity Center. There everyone had a chance to swim, play games, eat, and win prizes that had been donated by area merchants.

Seniors, Jeremy Hepner, Travis Stackhouse, Terry Bowers, and Jude Lensly do their usual jam session at the end of a good tune.

Seniors, Chad Nelson and Becky Swiger wait patiently for their turn to go to the buffet.

While Toby Sipp fills his plate with food, the people behind him hope there will be something left for them.

Zach DeLellis gives his favorite girl Amy Norbo a hug as they sit out a dance toward the end of the night.

GRADUATION!!

Angie Gibson and Rick Dobbels march to the stage to begin the ceremony.

Darin Ries receives his diploma from his father, Mr. Art Ries.

Amid the smiles and tears of graduation, the girls bid farewell to each other and their school.

Angela Erickson gives her mom a hug as she passes through the greeting line.

Since Brent Gustafson had his appendix removed two days before graduation, Nate Boberg, Jeremy Hepner, and Travis Stackhouse attempt to give him a kiss to make him feel better.

As they gather together for the last time, the guys found time to pose for the camera.

During her Honor address, Rachael Vinavich thanks her family and classmates for their support through school.

As a member of the top ten percent of his class, Brian Swan gives the welcome to the ceremony.

Valedictorian Becky Swiger speaks of all of the many changes that have happened at CHS over the past four years.

BAND

Receives a one rating at contest for first time in over ten years

Drum majors Rachael Vinavich and Leanna Ahring salute the flag during the playing of the national anthem.

On a rainy Saturday morning, the Viking marching band marches in the Illinois State University homecoming parade.

Travis Stackhouse directs the pep band in playing the school song before the varsity girls basketball game begins.

Mr. Sheldon directs the concert band in playing their final number at the spring band concert.

After playing in the Memorial Day program at the court house, the band reverses formation to march back to the school.

At the Christmas concert, Toby Sipp, Chad Humphrey, and Nathan Brewer, members of the brass section are featured.

During the band's half-time show, Jarrod Grant steps out in front to play his trombone solo.

CHORUS

Presents concerts, musical, and provides programs for civic organizations

The night before the annual Christmas Walk members of the chorus, Jaime Edmund, Candy Kappelman, Matt Stromquist, Heather Maynard, and Andrea Bostwick go caroling.

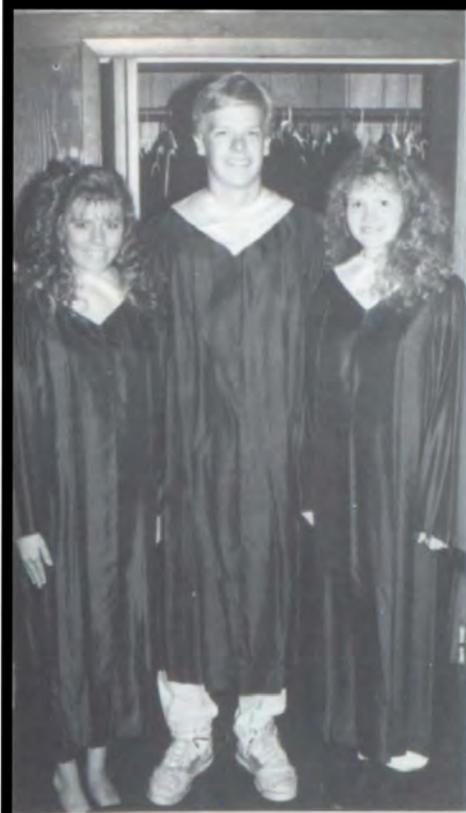

During the Christmas concert, Mrs. Daniels turns to the audience to introduce the next song on the program.

After the choir party, Heather Maynard stops to wish accompanist Bonnie Talbott a happy birthday.

On "Salute to America" night, choir members, Jaime Edmund and Natalie Stackhouse sing the national anthem.

BUSY YEAR ENDS WITH ANNUAL MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET

This year the FHA was again one of the most active organizations at CHS. As soon as school started they had their first meeting and invited the freshmen to learn about the FHA and all its activities. In addition to dues, they raised money to finance their activities by providing baby sitting services and working at basketball concessions. As is traditional, they sponsored the winter formal and Sadie Hawkins dances. At the end of the year, those members who had earned enough points, went on an all day trip to Long Grove. Their busy year ended with a banquet and style show held at the Deck in Geneseo.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

While touring Long Grove, FHA members stop for lunch at McDonalds and can't resist Ronald's playground.

FHA adviser, Mrs. Rumley and members Amy Todd and Jo Hutchinson hang the decorations for the winter formal on Saturday morning.

On Thursday of FHA week, Angela Erickson gets into the spirit of the day with her hat and shades.

At the spring banquet, senior Becky Swiger "Does a Little Turn on the Catwalk" as she models a polka dot dress from Casual Corner in the mall.

Officers for next year, Stephanie Norris, Jennifer Dole, Staci Gibson, Jo Hutchinson, Mary Fuqua, Tanya Strader, Alissa Carlson, and Jolene Moody are installed at the annual banquet.

ART SHOW AND CHICAGO TRIP HIGHLIGHT YEAR

The Art Honor Society was busy this year. It hosted the Henry/Stark County Art Festival in the early spring. Ten schools participated and over 500 pieces of art work were shown. First place award winners were Amy Todd in pastel and Sunny Schnowske in pencil. The Honor Society also made a trip to Chicago where they visited the Art Institute, the Water Tower, and the Candlelight Dinner Playhouse. Society members making the trip were: (as shown below) Chad Erickson, Amy Norbo, Allisa Carlson, Kristie Lievens, Kala Franck, Amy Todd, Sunny Schnowske, Travis Stackhouse, and Jeff Rapp. Brian Cardona didn't make the trip.

NINE NEW MEMBERS ENTER HONOR SOCIETY AT CEREMONY

NHS

After the ceremony, Brent Gustafson, Cory Lange, and Angie Carlson head for the hors d'oeuvres.

NHS OFFICERS: Racheal Vinavich (secretary), Becky Swiger (president), Amy Dobbels (treasurer).

The National Honor Society is one of the most prestigious organizations to which a student can be a member. To be accepted, a person must have a grade point average of 92 or above at the end of his junior year, be active in the community and show leadership. This year nine students were accepted into the National Honor Society. The new members were officially welcomed into the Society by the eight senior members at a ceremony at the Deck in Geneseo. The ceremony in which Kurt Horberg was the guest speaker was followed by a reception.

After congratulating him, Amy Todd hands new inductee Jarrod Grant his membership card and pin.

Young team drives on

The 1991 golf team had a difficult season. The Varsity finished with a dual match record of three wins and fourteen losses. The Junior Varsity struggled with one win and ten losses. The Vikings also did not fair well in tournaments. They finished twentieth out of twenty-one teams at the Monmouth Invitational, sixth out of eleven at the Mount Morris Invitational, and eleventh out of twelve at the Regionals. The team struggled all season because of inexperience. There was only one senior, Chad Nelson, and one junior, Courtney Stone, on the team. The rest of the roster was filled by eight sophomores and six freshmen. Even though the team had a trying season, some members had good personal seasons. CHS match medalists were Chad Nelson (Monmouth Invitational) and Lance Edmund (Mount Morris Invitational and Regionals). These two also tied for the low season score.

LeAnna Ahring eyes the hole before putting for par.

The Varsity volleyball team brought something back to Cambridge that has been missing for six years: The conference title and the respect for Cambridge volleyball. This year Varsity had an over-all record of 8-13 and a conference record of 7-1.

We asked some of the volleyball players, "What did you think of this season?" Patience Gardner said, "It was the best year I ever had playing volleyball. I felt like I was part of the team." Terena Coziahr's comment was, "It was the funnest year I ever had and I hope next year is just as great."

The highlight of the season came on September 25th when they met Alwood for the third time. After losing in their first two meets, this night started with another loss. After regrouping between games, the Vikings came back strong, 15-11 and 16-14 to win the conference match. At the end of the season Alwood and Cambridge tied for conference championship.

Before school started, the volleyball team had three hour practices everyday for a week. Then it slowed down to only two hours, and finally it was an hour of practice a day.

The JV volleyball team had a rough season, but they gained experience for next year. The losses were hard to take but everyone kept trying. Some players felt that if we would have had the videos of their first games, we would have won the top prize on America's Funniest Home Videos.

Their over-all record was 0-15, but their season was not as bad as the record looks. What was important was how much they improved. At the beginning, they had scores of 0-15 and 2-15 with Galva and by the end of the season they almost beat Alexis with scores of 15-7, 13-15, and 9-15.

Jessie McClain gets ready for the ball to be served over the net.

Melanie Schumaker watches the ball as she serves.

The Viking Fresh-Soph football team completed an excellent season this year, finishing with an undefeated record at 8-0 and in first place in the conference. Their keys to success were a solid defense and an explosive offense. The Vikings never gave up more than fourteen points in any game and scored on an average of almost twenty-nine points per game.

Although the success of the team was a team effort, there were a few players who had outstanding seasons. John Franks led the team with 91 tackles while scoring 9 touchdowns rushing and passing for one more. Chad Humphrey was the leading passer with 775 yards and 12 touchdowns. Defensively he was second on the team with 54 tackles. Joey Bayless scored seven touchdowns on 423 yards rushing and three more on punt returns.

Sophomore running back Joey Bayless cuts to the outside and sprints toward the end zone for a touchdown.

After the Viking score, Brandon Bates holds the ball for the Chad Humphrey extra point attempt.

Vikes miss play-offs

The Cambridge Vikings had a disappointing season this year. They finished with a conference record of 4-3 and an overall record of 5-4. This record placed them fourth in the Lincoln Trail Conference and one game and too many fumbles short of a seventh consecutive play-off berth. This year's team consisted of thirty hard working players (8 sophomores, 11 juniors, and 11 seniors).

Although the team didn't make the play-offs, there were many highlights. For their first game, the Vikings traveled to Orion and soundly defeated their arch rival Chargers, 14-0. The biggest thrill of the season for both the team and it's fans was the homecoming victory over ROWVA. The Tigers entered the game having scored 135 points and only giving up 8 in their first three games. The Vikings knew it would be a rough game. They played very good defense and the offense worked well. When the final buzzer rang the Vikings had a hard fought 13-6 victory.

Many Vikings had outstanding seasons and were recognized for their accomplishments. Placing on the Lincoln Trail All-Conference first team were Shawn Maze (receiver), Nate Boberg (running back), Brent Gustafson (kicker), and Brian Swan (offensive guard and defensive line backer).

Other players recognized by making Honorable Mention were Jeremy Hepner (offensive tackle) and Shawn Maze and Richard Gargano (defensive backs).

With an undefeated Fresh-Soph squad and juniors with valuable experience, the team is looking forward to returning to the play-offs next year.

Squad dances on

This year the pom pon squad proved that biggest isn't always best. Although this was the smallest squad in years they performed the best routines in years.

In July they attended an NCA camp where they received a spirit stick for good spirit each night of camp, taking the stick they received on the last night home with them. They also received a first place ribbon for the squad routine that was taught to them at camp. For their home routine, that they brought to camp, they received a second place ribbon.

The seniors on the squad went out in style. They had maroon and gold MC Hammer pants made, which they wore for their final performance to "Too Legit To Quit."

The basketball season turned out to be a disappointing one. This year the team went 3-21 over-all and 2-12 in conference play. Everything that could go wrong for the Vikings did. On their first day of practice, only eight juniors and seniors reported for the team. As the season progressed, they lost players to injuries and one to a suspension. This made it necessary to promote some sophomores to the varsity team. One of the on court problems was lack of consistency. The team would play one great half and then struggle in the next. This could be attributed to their lack of playing time together in previous years. The sophomores weren't used to playing with the seniors and visa versa. Through their struggles the team stayed united under the senior leadership and this filtered down to the rest of the players as everyone helped everyone else. Team unity was the best quality of the team.

The Fresh-Soph team provided plenty of excitement this season on its way to a 15-8 over-all record. An 11-4 conference record placed the team second behind Wethersfield. The most exciting quality of the team was its ability to use the full court press to get turnovers and quick baskets. Another plus for the team was the experience and leadership that was provided by the sophomores. This was also a problem because some of them were needed to assist the Varsity team. While this gained them valuable Varsity experience, it cut into their Fresh-Soph playing time.

Chad Humphrey led the team in scoring, rebounds, and free-throw percentage which earned him the team's most valuable player award.

Point guard Dean Caras looks to pass the ball inside to one of the big men.

Chad Humphrey shoots for two while Reese Berry gets ready to rebound.

This was a rebuilding year for the Fresh-Soph girls basketball team which consisted of three sophomores and ten freshmen. They went through many long practices and were at times discouraged. The season had a shaky start because most of them didn't know what to expect in high school competition. As the season progressed so did they. They learned to work as a team in practice and in games.

Their record of 4-15 overall and 3-11 in conference looks worse than it was according to Carrie Borkgren and Andrea Bostwick who said, "The record does not show how much we improved. Even though we didn't win many games, Coach Vandemore helped us realize how important it is to play as a team. She also showed us how important believing in yourself is."

Following the tradition of previous teams, the Lady Vikes had a successful basketball season. With a great coach, Ben Ahring, and the enthusiasm of the girls, the Lady Vikes ended up with a championship trophy from the Turkey Tourney, a winning record, and a feeling of accomplishment.

The season got off to an excellent start. The fans and the girls were surprised at how well they played. By the middle of the season the Lady Vikes were 16-7 overall and 9-5 in the conference.

After returning from Christmas break, and meeting ROWVA, the Vikes knew that the second half of the season was going to be tougher than the first. Instead of getting down, the girls pulled together and started what would eventually be a seven game winning streak. This, unfortunately, ended when they played the two toughest conference teams near the end of their season.

The Lady Vikes went into the regionals with high hopes but were defeated in their second game by Alwood.

CHS and Galva unify

The Cambridge Wrestling program underwent a major change this season as the team co-oped with Galva and Wethersfield. Each night after school the wrestlers rode a carry-all to practice in Galva. The biggest complaint from the athletes was that of wearing the Galva colors. The head coach, Bart Ericson was pleased with the year. "I feel the co-oping arrangement went very well in its first year. It provided a more balanced team as evidenced by one wrestler from each school qualifying for sectionals," commented Ericson. Our wrestlers faired well individually, also. Kevin Lievens, Pat Moody, and Brent Hasson placed in at least one varsity tournament. Senior Brent Hasson made the most of his last season as he qualified for the sectional tournament by finishing in the top three at regionals. He also enjoyed being coached by his older brother, Tom Hasson.

5 qualify for state

Although it wasn't the best of seasons for the boys track team this year, a few individuals excelled. Senior Brent Hasson did well in the shot put. He placed 6th at the sectional meet, only one place short of a medal. Junior Shawn Maze was another bright spot for the team. He won the high jump and qualified for the state meet by jumping 6'6" at sectionals. At state he failed to make the finals, but still jumped an impressive 6'2". The girls track team enjoyed some success this past season. It had a 3-1 dual meet record and finished fourth at the conference meet. The keys to the Lady Vikings success were Crista Wells and Becky Swiger in the long jump, Amy Todd in the high jump and the 800 meter relay team of Crista Wells, Becky Swiger, Amy Todd, and Amy Dobbels. All of these events qualified for state. Becky failed to make the finals, but Crista sailed to 16'4" and 11th place. Amy Todd finished 6th with a best of 5'4". The relay team finished fifth in its heat.

VIKING STAFF

In August there were only three members on Viking Staff, Johnill Cauwels, Jarrod Grant, and Amy Jeffries. About a month later Mary Fuqua joined them to complete the staff.

In September, Johnill, Jarrod, and Amy attended a yearbook workshop at the Woodhull Plaza. In the morning, they created layouts by cutting pictures and copy out of magazines and pasting them on layout forms. After lunch the winners were announced. Johnill Cauwels won first place and eight free pages of spot color for the yearbook which you see in the introduction. Amy Jeffries took Jarrod Grant's place this year by getting honorable mention, for her layout. After a great deal of discussion, the staff decided to go with a traditional theme for this book. We have worked many hours on it and hope you enjoy reading it as much as we enjoyed creating it.

As Mrs. Decker draws a layout Jarrod Grant and Johnill Cauwels learn some more new tips.

Helping Viking staff cut down the cost of their yearbooks, Nathan Brewer and Jerry Bowers look at pictures to buy during the annual picture sale.

Jarrod Grant tries to think of just the right word as he writes the body copy for the varsity boys basketball pages.

This year, at the request of many students, the Viking Staff decided to return to a more traditional style for the '91-'92 book. While struggling with theme ideas, we finally came to the conclusion that the most obvious theme "traditions" would be the best. In keeping with this, we have tried to create a book of memories for you that will help you remember this school year and all the traditional and some of the not so traditional things that have happened. As you read through this book, now and in the future, we hope you appreciate what we have created during these past months. It has taken many hours of work from all four of us on the staff along with the help of our adviser, Mrs. Decker, our photographer, Mrs. Stromquist, Photographic Arts, and an occasional word of advice from our Walsworth representative, Mr. Hawk.

Good-bye and enjoy,
Jarrod, Amy, Johnill, and Mary
