A SALUTE TO MR. UTECH

Under the capable leadership of Mr. Allen Utech, three classes of agriculture develop a knowledge of farming skills. The fact that learning is not exclusively for teen-agers is proved by the large representation of veterans in Mr. Utech's evening class.

Although Mr. Utech spends most of his time planning and preparing the subject matter for his many classes, he is always willing to help others. A Future Farmer needing aid with his club project, a member of the junior class having a question concerning prom, or any student facing a problem will find Mr. Utech ready to listen.

For your outstanding qualities as a teacher and friend, we dedicate this 1958 Viking to you, Mr. Utech.

"Do you have one of the new teachers?"

"What period do you have typing?"

"I don't have biology until 7th period!"

Such is the flurry of remarks to be heard in the corridors and classrooms of CHS on the first day of school. The Viking Staff met the day before school started for discussion of plans for the coming year. Making handbooks occupied the officers of the Future Homemakers of America the last week of vacation.

When the doors of CHS finally opened, teachers and students, both old and new, were found preparing for the 1957-1958 school year with anticipation.

During September, organizations met and began to arrange their programs for the coming year. Although the class meetings might have looked like "organized confusion," officers were finally elected. Attracting attention and teasing from teachers and students with their silly get-up were the freshmen on Initiation Day. At the party held in their honor, the freshmen performed stunts to the gleeful satisfaction of both students and faculty. After many weeks of hard practice, the Vikings officially started their football schedule by playing Erie in a non-conference game at Cambridge and won. Honoring their parents at a pot-luck supper and program were the FHA and FFA at the Parents' Night. After pondering over numerous styles, shapes, and cost, the juniors finally picked out the ring that was "just right" for them.

October was the month of Asian flu, and there were over three hundred absences one day in both high and grade schools, and with Homecoming in the offing. Although the team and rooters were fewer than usual, Cambridge was victorious in the Homecoming game.

The skeleton of the new cafeteria is beginning to take shape.

AND FACULTY AS THEY PASS THROUGH

A few couples enjoyed the dance following the game. There were many sore muscles after the work day sponsored by the Viking Staff to raise money for the annual.

In November, the band made its annual trip to Macomb to march in that college's Homecoming parade. Identification pictures were quickly snapped one noon, and if you didn't smile--too bad. The classes met to choose king and queen candidates for the Viking Benefit Carnival and to decide on money-making projects. The Carnival was a huge success with the freshman king and queen ruling over the festivities. The annual staff received word in November that the 1957 Viking had won N.S.P.A.'s first place award. Parents never realized how "level-headed" teenagers could be until four representatives of the students answer the questions of perplexed parents at P.T.A. Our first basketball game was held in our gym against Geneseo, with a defeat for the Vikings.

The music department presented a Christmas program for the public in December. At our high school Christmas party sponsored by the Honor Society, the gift exchange included something for everyone present. The FHA and FFA combined their voices to go caroling at the Henry County Convalescent Home. As the students left CHS for Christmas vacation, their only regret was no snow.

January brought the basketball season into full swing with the Cornbelt Conference tournament held at Alwood. Assemblies, the first of the school year, all began to appear in one week. Soon everyone looked grumpy, sleepy, and unprepared as semester tests arrived. Students found that cramming does not help, but everyone started with a fresh slate the second semester.

The freshmen are hard at work on their first semester test in high school.

DAILY ROUTINE OF STUDIES, CLUBS,

Larry Carlson has his teeth X-rayed as part of the school's health program.

The FHA and GAA food stand does a rushing business during the half at a basketball game.

January also brought FHA Initiation and FTA Blackhawk Institute. CHS students and faculty were saddened by the death of their faithful custodian, Frank Cousins.

February brought more cold, snow, and stalled cars. After a day's vacation for Lincoln's Birthday, the students began to look forward to the FHA-FFA Sweetheart Ball. In this month of parties, the sophomore class sponsored a Sock Hop after the Parents' Night game with Atkinson. How to ease pain, make people hate you, stop bad habits, and learn of a person's past can be done through hypnotism, was learned at the assembly which featured James Walters, who demonstrated his techniques on some boy volunteers from CHS student body.

CHS's participation in the regional tournament at Galesburg officially ended the basketball season. Early in March, the district music contest for solos and ensembles was held in Wethersfield, where we scored with two "superiors," and many "excellents."

The physical education show proved to be "different," with the girls drilling and doing organized calisthenics as a part of the program. The FFA was busy this month with the Parent-Son banquet and Parliamentary Procedure contest as highlights. March 29, CHS students again went to a district music contest for the band and choruses. March was climaxed by the traditional Holy Week services.

Although April started out with spring vacation, it developed into an eventful month. This was the time of the year when the juniors presented their comedy-mystery entitled "Midnight." The chorus festival held in Reynolds was attended by the members of the choral department. Just to show that spring was really here, the CHS Student Council sponsored their Work Day for those of the community who had odd jobs left over from fall.

Long, low, and brand new! That describes C. H. S. as viewed from the top of the football bowl.

AND EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

As we swung into May, the seniors felt regret that their high school days would soon be over. The varsity track team attended various meets, including the district track meet. Most of the organizations were bringing the year to a close with their last meetings and activities, but the Viking staff was still frantically working on the yearbook. Atkinson served as host to all the conference schools at the annual festival of band music. The year would not have been complete without the two gala evenings of the CHS social calendar--the Freshman-Sophomore Hop and the Junior-Senior Prom. At the honor assembly, where bows were taken and honors given, CHS students discovered how busy and hard-working some students had been in both academic work and activities. After semester exams, the students had a day of fun at the high school picnic. With baccalaureate and high school commencement, the doors of CHS were closed and the rooms were finally free of the rushing crowds, noisy games, shrill bells, incessant chatter, and the giggling of nervous pupils before tests -- free for three whole months. And so the procession of events at CHS has passed this way again. Most of the parade was old and familiar and dear. Some of it was new and exciting. But all of the marching feet in our parade left their footprints.

Parents and faculty were invited to the FFA Parent-Son banquet.

Both the grade and high schools attend Holy Week services at the Community Hall.

COMMUNITY INTERESTED IN SCHOOL

Time was, when few students were acquainted with the members of their Board of Education, but of late years, their faces have become familiar. Reason? The new $385,000 building project.

The current year has been unusually demanding of these seemingly tireless men's time and energy. Decisions innumerable are bound to occur when the building of a new addition for our sixth, seventh, and eighth-graders is in progress. Such taken-for-granted questions as lights, desks, location of bulletin and black boards, book shelves, and attractive wall-colors are theirs to decide.

At their regular monthly meetings, with Mr. Rodger Hultgren presiding, additional pressing problems involving salary schedules, teacher employment, pupil welfare, together with many others, occur. Mr. Leslie Fickling signs checks and keeps other accounts and records.

To sum up, these unselfish members of our Board of Education do everything in their power to make Cambridge a good school.

Average attendance at P.T.A. meetings is one-hundred. Programs are skillfully planned to include not only parent-teacher-pupil relationship problems, but such treats as Clair Golden's film, "Journey Through Russia."

Officers are:

President-Mrs. Leo Faulkner
Vice-President-Mrs. Tom Maynard
Secretary-Mrs. Howard Baze
Treasurer-Mr. Robert Parkinson

P.T.A. officers discuss National Library Week before their March meeting.

OFFICE IS NUCLEUS OF SCHOOL LIFE

Mrs. Werbach checks the financial records of the organizations.

The friendly smile of Miss Stach greets all who come to the office.

When his students hear our principal's friendly "Good Morning" and listen to his announcements over the P.A. system, they feel a sense of security and confidence.

This year, Mr. Smith teaches Driver Education to the freshmen and sponsors the Honor Society. He has a Master's degree from Colorado State College, and he is fond of golf as a pastime.

Is a book, pen, or bill-fold missing? Does a teacher want a new supply of materials? Did someone ask for an aspirin or to use the phone?

These are all sundry questions answered by Mrs. Werbach.

Mrs. Werbach likes to read, but as secretary-treasurer of the Board of Education she has very little leisure time!

Because she has so recently been a high school student herself, Gloria easily fits into our little school world. She is assistant secretary at the high school. In addition, she does secretarial work for Mr. Penstone, principal of the Grade School.

Mr. Smith looks over a record from his file in preparation for the day's business.

ENGLISH FORMS COLLEGE BACKGROUND

Each member of Miss Westerlund's English class has a file card on which he must record books which he has read. Keeping their cards up to date are Bruce Werbach, Bill Vincent, and Joyce Sanquist.

ELISABETH WESTERLUND

Going to college? Miss Westerlund's fourth year class in English Literature and Composition will help furnish the necessary background.

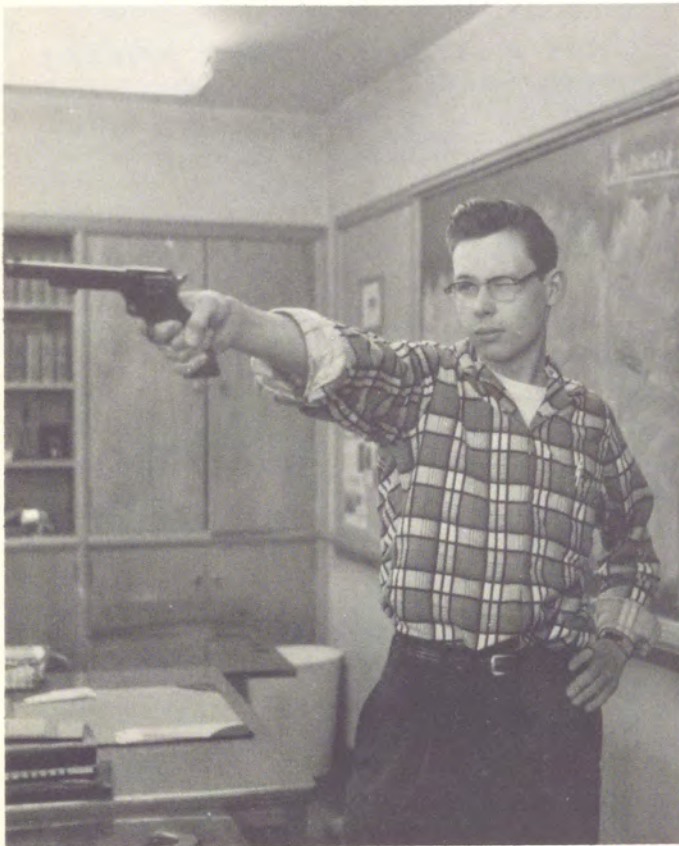

Miss Westerlund also teaches three classes of freshman, sophomore, and junior English. As sponsor of the VIKING and MAROON AND WHITE, she knows well the meaning of the word DEADLINE. The annual literary magazine is also one of her projects.

When she can "get out from under" her stacks of student themes and proof-reading, she loves to read and travel. She has a B.A. degree from the University of Illinois.

Barbara Drescher reports on a book to Miss Westerlund and her English class.

READING POPULAR PASTIME IN C. H. S.

Joe Talbot uses some of his father's old guns to illustrate his semester speech in Speech class.

INEZ KENWARD

As housewife, school librarian, and teacher, Mrs. Kenward has but little time to call her own and to indulge her interest in golf. Besides her four classes in Speech and English, she sponsors the FTA and Library clubs and is co-sponsor of the sophomore class.

As Speech teacher, she directs the annual junior class play and arranges skits for Amateur Night at the Viking Fall Carnival. In addition, she frequently acts as accompanist for high school concerts and music festivals.

She is a graduate of the University of Illinois with a B.A. degree.

LEWIS HACK

Sunny days find Mr. Hack on the golf course. But on school days, our new science teacher is sure to be in his laboratory among those sometimes serious-minded students who take chemistry, biology, or general science. All his pupils have grown familiar with this teacher's major teaching objective: learn to think.

Mr. Hack is co-sponsor of the freshman class. He has an M.A. degree from the University of Kansas.

Mr. Hack is on constant guard against accidents in the Chemistry lab.

SCIENCE NEEDS THINKERS

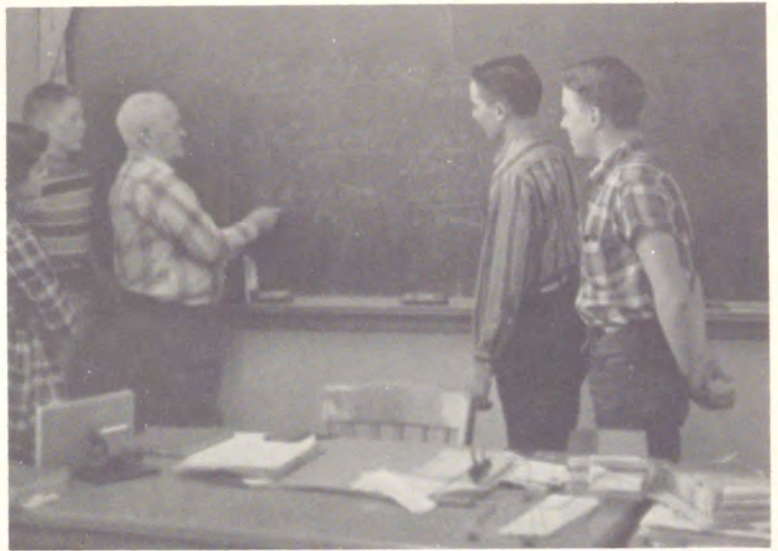

No, those tears aren't because this is the last dissection of the year in biology. That formaldehyde is worse than onions!

The Chemistry class scatters as Mr. Hack performs a dangerous experiment in thermite welding.

MATH TRAINS FUTURE ENGINEERS

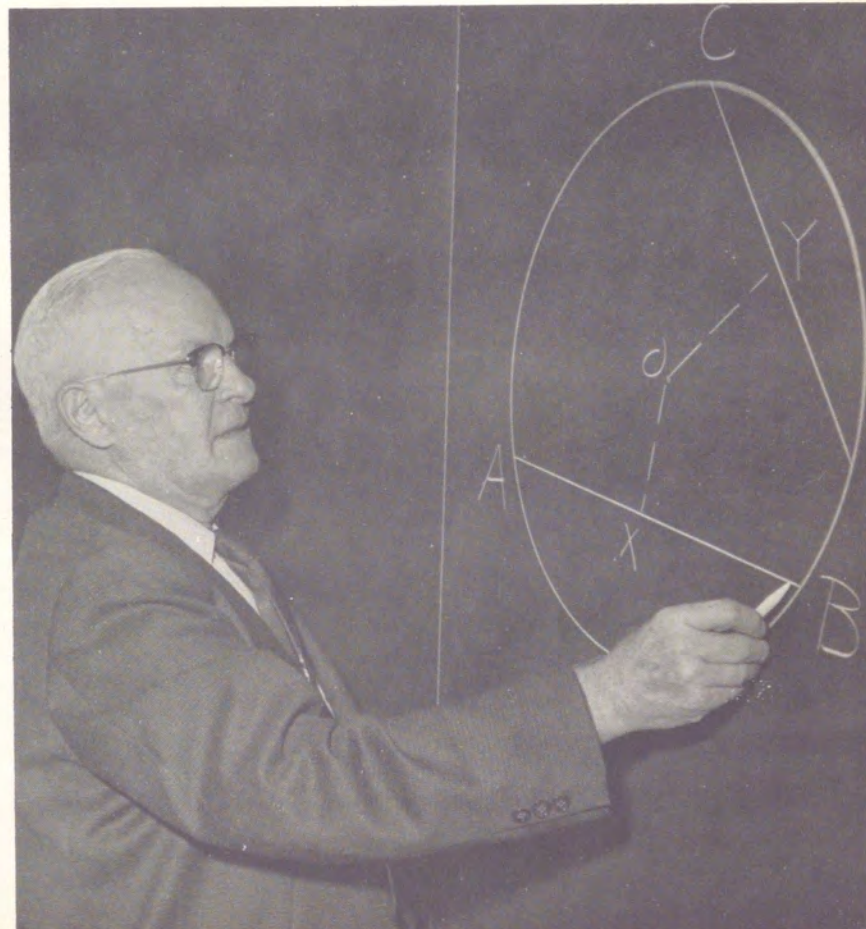

RAYMOND JOHNSON

Mr. Johnson enlivens his math classes with an occasional joke or personal experience, but the chief business of the day is the completed "work" that he expects from all his pupils. He has classes in algebra, geometry, and advanced math.

Mr. Johnson is known for his keen interest in both school and school sports events. As adviser to the Student Council, Pep Club, and senior class, he gets to know the students, their problems, and their enthusiasms.

Outside of school, golf keeps Mr. Johnson in trim. He has a B.S. degree from the University of Iowa.

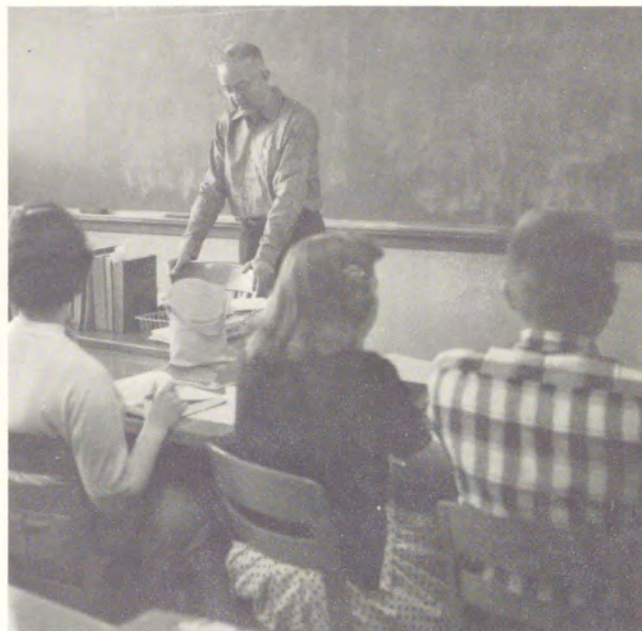

In the same or equal circles, if two chords . . .
Mr. Johnson conducts another geometry class.

TEEN-AGERS FASCINATED BY PAST

Mr. Shutt's English III meets on the stage to practice choral reading.

Mr. Shutt lectures on the topic currently being studied in a World History class.

PHILIP SHUTT

A new teacher at Cambridge High this year, Mr. Shutt has classes in World History, U.S. History, and two English classes. He sponsors the Projection Club and is co-sponsor of the sophomore class. Last fall, Mr. Shutt also did much toward making the annual Viking Carnival a financial success.

When he can take time out from correcting papers and planning assignments, Mr. Shutt does historical research from which he hopes to develop the biography of Civil War General McClelland.

He has a B.A. degree from Iowa State Teachers College.

Marvin Mariman reviews Anglo-Saxon migration with Mr. Shutt.

FUTURE PROBLEMS FACED IN HISTORY

KENNET ATKINSON

Although Mr. Atkinson is busy as a coach, he also teaches U. S. History, Modern Problems, and Bookkeeping. Through these courses, he really gets to know most of the students, and they, him.

Through his travels in the United States and Europe, he has sampled quite a slice of life and often tells colorful experiences pertaining to the material under discussion.

"Coach" received his B.S. degree from Illinois State Normal. He is co-sponsor of the sophomore class and sponsor of the Varsity Club. When asked what leisure-time activity he likes best, his natural reply was, "I like to watch sports."

Mr. Atkinson explains items of interest in the daily paper to Modern Problem students, Wilda Anderson and Joe Talbot.

COMMERCIAL SKILLS AID STUDENTS

BARBARA MARAS

Whether your ambition is to become a secretary or simply to learn how to type for your own personal use, Miss Maras can instruct you.

The commercial course is popular among C.H.S. students. Miss Maras has classes in Office Practice, Shorthand, Typing I and Personal Typing. The latter is a one-semester course open to freshmen. Six new Royal typewriters make possible larger classes this year.

Reading is a favorite pastime for Miss Maras. She has a B.E. degree from Illinois State Normal University.

Miss Maras dictates to Barbara Johnson and Jo-Ann Richter in her shorthand class.

BOYS LEARN HANDICRAFTS IN SHOP

JAMES DOYLE

The addition of three new pieces of machinery this year has opened up new fields of work for Mr. Doyle and his two classes in Industrial Arts. His boys study and make blue-prints for shop and learn how to build metal and wood furniture. The making of sterling silver rings has also been a project of the year's work. In addition, Mr. Doyle teaches physical education and coaches Grade School athletics. He is likewise Vocational Adviser to high school students.

He calls himself the "home-handyman" and is one of the several teachers who enjoy golf. He has an M.S. degree from Illinois State Normal University.

Mr. Doyle aids Carol Rebout with a problem in his first - period study hall.

Milton Johnson and Lyle Newmann work on a metal-work project in Industrial Arts I.

The second period shop class is always a scene of busy activity.

Larry Lewis helps John Lindquist construct a sawhorse in Ag shop.

AG A BASIC SUBJECT IN COMMUNITY

ALLEN UTECH

When he has the time, our Agriculture teacher enjoys fishing, but his busy schedule does not often permit him to indulge in this pastime.

In our farming community, agriculture is a helpful and important subject for both high school students and adult farmers. Farm mechanics, supervised farm-practice work, class work, plus worthwhile extra-curricular activities, fill out the agriculture program.

Mr. Utech sponsors the FFA and the junior class. He has both B.S. and M.Ed. degrees from the University of Illinois.

Mr. Utech offers some advice to Larry Johnson on keeping his record book up-to-date.

MAE MILLER

Are you interested in working out a food or time budget? In attaching a zipper to your skirt? In an efficient floor-plan? Miss Miller can tell you how.

Co-sponsor of the junior class and FHA adviser, Miss Miller is our Home Economics teacher. The girls in her classes learn from her both the essentials and "extras" of good home-making.

Miss Miller tells us that both listening to records and sewing for her small nieces and herself are her hobbies. She has a M.S. degree from the University of Illinois.

HOME EC POPULAR AMONG C. H. S. GIRLS

Members of the Home Ec III class decorate the Christmas tree in the lobby every year. Pictured here are JoAnn Richter, Carol Rebout, and Karen Vincent.

DRILL, GYMNASTICS FOR GIRLS, TOO

LOIS HACK

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin and a new teacher at Cambridge High this year is Mrs. Lois Hack. Sixth, seventh, and eighth grade girls also take P.E. from Mrs. Hack. Co-ordination and co-operation are among the traits that this teacher stresses in her classes. In addition, once a week she conducts a Health and first-aid program.

As sponsor of GAA Mrs. Hack encourages the girls to use their P.E. training in a variety of sports such as bowling, archery, and basketball. She is also co-sponsor of the senior class. Outside of school, Mrs. Hack enjoys sewing and sports.

Mrs. Hack checks a badminton racket for possible use in her two high school girls' P.E. classes.

P. E. WELCOME CHANGE FROM STUDIES

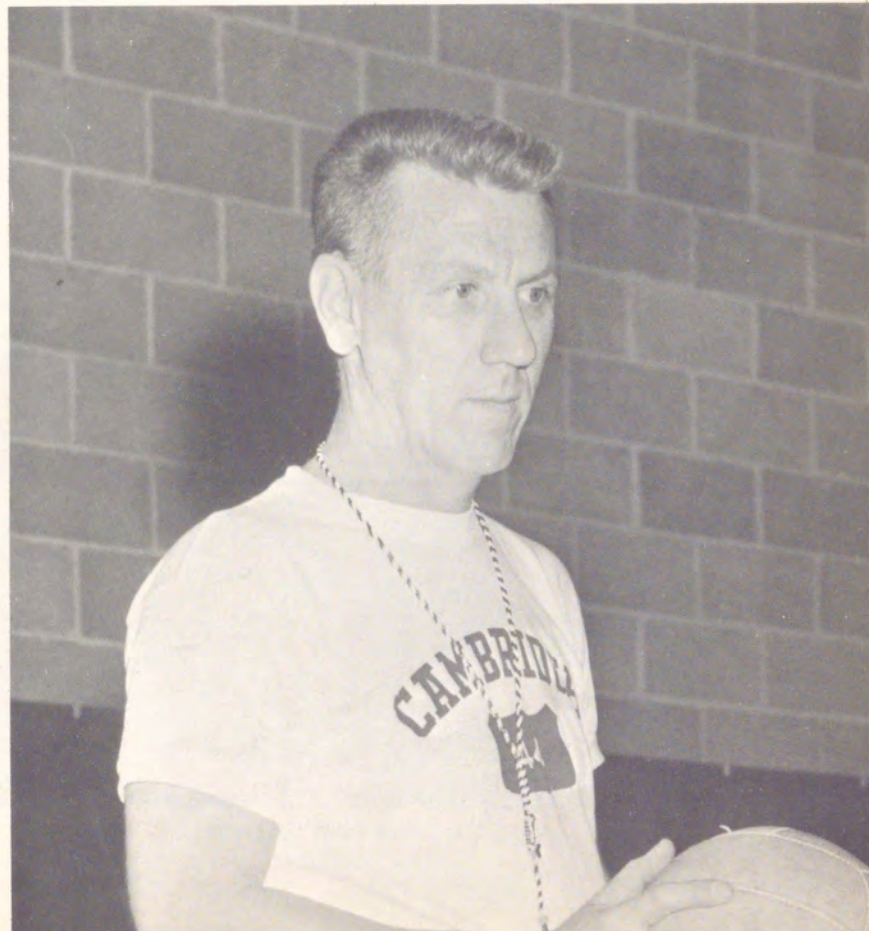

Junior and Senior boys engage in a rousing game of volleyball.

KENNET ATKINSON

Boys' Physical Education is one of the several courses at C.H.S. taught by Coach Atkinson. Calisthenics, combined with a daily lap around the "bowl" in warm weather and a vigorous game of basketball, baseball, soccer, drill, or football, keeps the boys of fifth and sixth hour P.E. physically fit. They soon recognize their aptitudes and learn how to improve under their coach's guidance.

JAMES FINLEY

The beautiful music you heard at the Christmas and Spring concerts this year was organized and directed by Mr. James Finley.

A newcomer to CHS, he has been efficient in keeping the music-minded students working to perfect their talents. One of his projects was organizing a dance band, the Blue Notes, which has become popular with both the students and community.

As the time for contests drew near, the grade and high school bands and all three choruses as well as those participating in the solo and ensemble contests spent many extra practice sessions with Mr. Finley to smooth our rough spots.

He enjoys sports of all kinds, especially volleyball and football.

Mr. Finley has a M.S. degree from the University of Illinois.

Mr. Finley demonstrates the pose that snaps the students to attention during rehearsals.

MUSIC OPENS NEW HORIZONS

The boys' chorus practices one of the songs to be sung at district contest in Wethersfield.

Mrs. Loretta Schumaker is our school nurse. Be it a cut finger or a broken bone, pupils can always depend on her help. Mrs. Schumaker spends most of her time at the grade school, since the younger children are more prone to accidents.

She received her training at the Lutheran Hospital in Sioux City, Iowa, and for the past two years has been attending summer school at the University of Minnesota to get her Certificate in Public Health Nursing.

Mr. Martin Nelson assisted by Mrs. Jennie Cousins and Mrs. Oscar Dahlgren are the faithful custodians of our school.

Perhaps few realize that their work never ends. Even in the summer, the school must be cleaned, and with the construction of the addition, the task has become much larger.

THEY MAKE OUR WHEELS TURN

Weather conditions this year have made the job of our capable but long-suffering bus drivers doubly difficult. Lester Gustafson, Ralph Young, Duane Tomlinson, Gene Wongstrom, Perry Leander, Joubert Skalberg, Merton Becker, LaVern Peterson, and Dick Matheny drive our eight buses and the carry-all.

Where else but at our cafeteria can appetizing and nutritious food be bought for thirty cents per meal? The capable cooks, Mrs. Dorothy Tucker, Mrs. Rose Echelberger, and Mrs. Leona Carlson, prepare our meals.

Holiday menus are especially enticing, with turkey, all the trimmings, and perhaps a special surprise treat.

Viking staff writers Lanny Anderson, Bob Naslund, Mary Maynard, Joyce Sanquist, Tom Swan, Bill Vincent, David Hutchinson, Karen Fossum, and Emily Cederberg gather around the bulletin board.

Assembling and editing a yearbook is a herculean task that requires teamwork. The annual staff headed by the editor, Andrea Lunde, and the adviser, Miss Westerlund, meets twice a month, and as the deadline draws near, the staff toils through many a late hour.

Since the yearbook is not financed by advertising, it is a task to raise money. In the fall, a work-day is held, sponsored by the Viking Staff, and in which most of the students willingly participate. They do odd jobs, the proceeds of which are for the benefit of the Viking. Pictures are sold to the grade school as part of the fund-raising campaign. The annual Carnival, directed by the benefit chairman, earns the largest share of the money. The proceeds of the current year's Carnival amounted to $1100. This project is also supported by the generous contributions of the community. Subscription fees complete the financing of another Viking in-the-making.

VIKING STAFF WORKS TOWARD

Discussing a prospective page of layout are the executive staff: Larry Kenward, photography editor; David Telleen, assistant editor; Andrea Lunde, editor; Miss Elizabeth Westerlund, Adviser; Linda Engquist, benefit chairman; Judy Davis, business manager; and Sharron Arnstedt, copy editor.

OUR TEEN-AGERS DO IT THEMSELVES

The top-brass, or the Student Council members, are elected carefully every year, for their organization is the backbone of the school. Under the direction of the sponsor, Mr. Raymond Johnson, its main purpose is to create a better understanding between faculty and students.

The council has made many additions to the school. Funds earned on the annual spring work-day are used to purchase useful articles, such as the ping-pong table, which was this year's present. The Student Council participates in the two annual Corn Belt Conference council meetings, occasionally acting as host.

Any problems that come up are taken to the representative at large, Karen Vincent, who presents them to the council. Our Student Council keeps the school life running as smoothly as a well-oiled machine.

The dream of every ambitious Cambridge student is to join the National Honor Society. Becoming a member is not exactly easy, however. First, one must have an average of 88% or more; and second, meet the high standards of service, leadership, and character. Grades from ones freshman and sophomore years are checked, and at the end of the second year, candidates are notified that they have been accepted. All students know it is an honor to be selected to join.

The all-school Christmas party, a highlight of the school social calendar, is planned and sponsored by the Honor Society.

The society meets once a month with the officers presiding, and the school superintendent, Mr. Smith, as director and sponsor.

HONOR SOCIETY OFFICERS: Larry Galle, Lanny Anderson, Jerry Gustafson, and Bill Vincent pose on the steps to the stage after a meeting.

F. F. A. PROMOTES INTEREST IN AG

The Future Farmers of America is an organization of boys striving to become better farmers after they graduate. This is the only group that is active throughout the year, meeting twice a month during the school year and once a month during summer vacation.

There are many sectional and state contests which the boys can enter. Livestock judging, public speaking, farm safety, and parliamentary procedure are just a few. The Cambridge Chapter has many awards which reflect the expert instruction of their teacher and sponsor, Mr. Alan Utech.

Freshman girls become full-fledged FHA members at the initiation program.

Do you want to have a home of your own? If so, you need training in the field of home-making. Since every girl someday hopes to be the "queen of the home," the FHA is the largest organization in school. "Participation Leaves Its Footprints" was the theme this year. The FHA co-sponsors the Sweetheart Ball with the FFA and participates in a fashion show, where the members model clothes they have made. Initiation of new members is observed in an impressive evening service. Miss Miller, the adviser, helps the girls with their Junior, Chapter, and State degrees.

TODAY STUDENTS—TOMORROW TEACHERS

"Teacher, how do you work this problem?" Queries such as this are commonplace to teachers, but what happens when there are not enough teachers to answer all the questions? The Future Teachers are trying to answer that question by carefully preparing for a teaching career.

Our local chapter was named in honor of Miss Amelia Gran, who taught here for nearly three generations. She was a much beloved and dedicated teacher and inspired many young people to go into teaching.

The organization, sponsored by Mrs. Kenward, gains experience through practice teaching at the grade school and by choosing the age group and field they prefer.

FTA officers encourage students to consider a teaching career. Pictured are Beverly Moody, Mrs. Kenward, adviser, Emily Cederburg, and Joyce Sanquist.

During National Education Week members of the FTA went to the grade school to gain further experience in teaching. Pictured here is Beverly Moody with some first grade children.

TOWN GETS BIRD'S-EYE VIEW OF C. H. S.

"Maroon and White" writers Janet Utech, Linda Horberg, Mary Maynard, and Jean Flint discuss last week's column in the CAMBRIDGE CHRONICLE.

Via "Maroon and White," popular teenage fads and fancies are explained to perplexed parents. The columns of our school news are published through the courtesy of the community newspaper, the CAMBRIDGE CHRONICLE.

"Potpourri," a French word meaning "a little of everything," appears each week. This humorous, personal column tells its readers about our special little school world and its current activities. Additional news is supplied by student writers from each class, freshmen and sophomores alternating with juniors and seniors.

Miss Elizabeth Westerlund sponsors "Maroon and White."

ASSISTANTS LIGHTEN LIBRARY WORK

Karen Smith, Jean Flint, Loretta Beck, Library club officers, review a copy of the Constitution after a meeting.

Remember that reference book you needed for the term paper you were writing and you just couldn't seem to find anywhere until you asked one of our librarians? Chalk another service up to the part that student librarians perform in keeping school life running smoothly. Besides this service, duties include keeping track of all reading material in the library, checking out books, and collecting fines. Under the direction of their adviser, Mrs. Kenward, the librarians keep our well-stocked library operating efficiently and supply the needs of those students who may wonder, "Where is the READER'S GUIDE?"

STUDENTS ASSIST WITH VISUAL AIDS

Do you need someone to run the projector for a film? Just call on a member of the Projection Club. The honor of operating the machines is not easily won, for it requires much training. The "green horns" are called apprentices, while second-year members are pre-experts. When these students learn to run the various machines and understand their functions, they are allowed to help train the new members to operate the equipment. A film might be broken, but not for long when there are members of the Projection Club to help.

Dennis Burns and Dean Coffin, with their adviser, Mr. Shutt, set up the record player.

C. H. S. BAND TRAVELS TO COLLEGE HOME-

Three mornings a week, sleepy-eyed students trudge into the gym on their way to band practice. Although 8:30 in the morning is an early hour for any kind of music, the band members perk up after the first rousing march.

Early in September, Mr. James Finley, supervises marching instruction for the coming football season. It stirs the spirit to hear the rumbling drum cadences as the band marches out on the field. Later, the band travels to Macomb to march in the Homecoming parade at Western Illinois State Teachers College.

Christmas and spring are ushered in by concerts. District contest and finally the magnificent concert at the annual Cornbelt Conference Band Festival end the band's performances for the year.

During the year, Mr. Finley organized two smaller groups of musical instruments. The Viking Pep Band and a new dance band, the "Blue Notes," are becoming very popular with the school and the whole community.

The "Blue Notes" have made a hit with the community. Their smooth style of music is much in demand--for instance, here they provide the music for the PTA Benefit dance.

IN CHORUS YOUTHFUL ENTHUSIASM

Actually, we have four different choruses, although only three are ever seen performing. The girls' chorus is composed of two sections, freshman-sophomore and junior-senior. Some of the girls are selected to sing in the mixed chorus, quite a new organization.

Contest-bound girls wear the uniform white blouse, dark skirt, and flower. But at the spring concert, these same girls blossom out in beautiful, frothy evening dresses. A breath-taking sight is the young singers in their rainbow of colors.

The boys' chorus is small in number, but the lads make us forget the smallness of their group as they boom out their rollicking songs. Everyone enjoys listening to these spirited songsters as, decked out in white shirts, bow ties, and crew-cuts, they sing "Stouthearted Men."

The choruses practice faithfully all year long for contest, the Cornbelt Conference Festival, and two concerts, all of which are directed by Mr. James Finley.

From the stage, the girls' chorus fills the gymnasium with melodious harmony.

Hear that singing? That's the year-old mixed chorus directed by Mr. Finley. Although this is quite a newly organized group, these choristers feel like professionals singing together at contest and the two concerts. As can be expected, the girls outnumber the boys; but as yet they cannot prove they can sing louder. Teasing is being reversed, though, for this year the girls are determined to show up the boys. All nonsense is forgotten as they harmonize in an excellent musical blend of voices.

G. A. A. COMPETES IN TOURNAMENTS

Our football players have learned to be wary of flying arrows as they trot around the bowl at football practice. For feminine Robin Hoods, the GAA girls, are trying vainly to put their arrows into the distant target.

After earning the required eight points in archery, the girls start bowling, volleyball, shuffleboard, and basketball.

The Girls' Athletic Association stresses good sportsmanship, and at the end of the year, one girl is selected to have her name engraved on the GAA trophy. She is chosen for her sportsmanship, helpfulness in the organization, and outstanding ability in all the sports.

VIKETTES ADD VOLUME TO CHEERS

Varsity cheerleaders, Joan Finnicum, Karen Vincent, Sharon Simkins, and Mary Maynard, show a new cheer to Diane Ayres, Beverly Moody, Karen Fossum, and Barbara Drescher, pep club officers.

Boom! Boom! Across the gridiron the boys on the bench could hear the frenzied beat of the big bass drum which a member of the Vikettes was playing as she and the rest of our pep club cheered the Vikings on to third place in Conference football. Sitting at the other end of the gym, our parents could feel the enthusiasm behind the shout of "Get That Tip!" at the beginning of a basketball game. School spirit has been really roused this year as the Vikettes under the direction of their adviser, Mr. Johnson, got under way with pep sessions, new cheers, and that extra amount of rooters at "away" games that really let the opposition know that "We're from Cambridge and couldn't be any prouder!"

Athletes with major letters in sports are members of the Varsity Club. This club is an organization that requires for eligibility to membership a major letter in football, basketball, or track.

To become a member, a boy must also be approved by two-thirds of the current members of the organization.

This club, sponsored by our coach, Mr. Kennet Atkinson, seeks to promote excellent sportsmanship and to uphold the high standards of our Cambridge athletes. This group likewise sets up training rules each year.

VARSITY CLUB OFFICERS: Joe Talbot, Jim Matson, and Dave Wongstrom, have a buzz session on Friday night's football game.

FROSH "SLAVES" EVOKE LAUGHTER

On one of the first days of school, it is traditional that the freshmen be subjected to a day of "slavery," which the seniors wait for but freshmen dread. This event is, of course, Freshman Initiation.

On this day, our little neophytes scurry about the halls in weird costumes and makeup. Forced to obey the slightest senior command, freshmen are kept busy bowing, lugging books, serving lunch, and doing numerous other chores for their superiors. In the evening, the underclassmen attend a party at which they must perform stunts before the entire student body. After some desperate attempts at trying to do what they are told, the freshman class is finally welcomed into our school family.

Joe Talbot directs the freshman boys in a potato race the night of initiation.

FLU LESSENS HOMECOMING ATTENDANCE

Even though an Asian flu epidemic dampened the students' spirits, the Homecoming festivities were a success. The Vikings overpowered the Joy Bulldogs on the grid-iron to the delight of the large crowd of spectators.

Following the game, the crowning of the king and queen was held. Marilyn Fickling and Jerry Gustafson crowned Janis and Dennis Humphrey king and queen. Their attendants were Pat Wiley and Lester Sandberg, seniors; Joyce Sanquist and Bruce Werbach, juniors; Beverly Moody and Wayne Fickling, sophomores; and Glenna Moore and Kent Caldwell, freshmen.

The speeches of welcome and the introduction of the senior football players over, everyone was free to dance or reminisce with the alumni who came "home" for the big event.

Janis and Dennis Humphrey were crowned king and queen of the Viking homecoming.

FRESHMEN REIGN AT '57 CARNIVAL

Carnival-going youngsters line up to try their luck at the celebrated fish pond.

Dean Coffin, Karen Smith, Odetta Downing, Barbara Drescher, Ronnie Simkins, and Jim Peterson, attendants for Carnival count the number of admittance tickets they have sold.

The annual carnival held in the Community Hall proved to be quite successful. "Ring-a-duck" and "Cake Walk" booths were favorites of the large crowd in attendance.

A short program, "Around the World in 18 Minutes," was presented under the direction of Mrs. Inez Kenward. The various acts represented many countries. There were several kinds of dances, including a hula dance, a Swedish folk dance, and some rock n' roll. Larry Borg, Jim Ole, and Larry Kenward presented an imitation of the "Nairobi Trio," of television fame.

After the program came the big moment, the crowning of the king and queen. The victors in the "race" for this honor were Gloria Down and Bob Anderson, the freshman candidates. Last year's royalty, Joyce Nelson and John Phillips, crowned the proud winners. Attendants were: Barbara Drescher and Jim Peterson, sophomores; Odetta Downing and Ronnie Simkins, juniors; and Karen Smith and Dean Coffin, seniors.

CHRISTMAS CHEER PERVADES C. H. S.

The band and choruses combine in a mass choir to furnish a fitting close for the annual Christmas concert.

Under our Santa's watchful eye, Honor Society members distribute the gifts.

Greenery, hot lights, and proud parents; these are some of the memories of our first concert of the year at Christmas. Old familiar carols were heard along with many new tunes. The final number was a medley of favorite songs of the season sung by the band and choruses combined.

Another big event of the Yuletide season was the Christmas party, sponsored by the Honor Society. A Christmas tree, mistletoe, and evergreen branches gave the gym a seasonal appearance as good music and a visit from "Santa" combined to create a holiday air. A skit, "The Night Before Christmas," was presented by the Honor Society members, after which was the traditional gift exchange. Dancing and refreshments contributed to the evening's merriment.

Society members and teachers swing out for the initial dance at our Christmas Ball.

Allen Utech supervises decorating crews of FFA boys while others work on dance band props for the Sweetheart-Heartthrob Ball.

Suspense ran high as students wondered who the Sweetheart and the newly-ordained Heartthrob would be.

At the Sweetheart Ball, sponsored jointly by the F.H.A. and the F.F.A., the winners were announced: Beverly Moody and Bob Naslund were this year's Sweetheart and Heartthrob. Attendants were Larry Schnowske, Larry Carlson, Sharon Simkins, and Karen Vincent.

Music for an evening of dancing was provided by our own "Blue Notes," and the Valentine decorations in red and white were appropriate for the evening.

SWEETHEART GAINS A HEART THROB

F.F.A. president, Larry Galle, presents the Sweetheart jacket to Beverly Moody, as Bob Naslund, as Heartthrob, receives a gift from F.H.A. president, Andrea Lunde.

This year, the gym show was done as a three-ring circus, with several acts going on at once.

Practice, aching muscles, and more practice. This was the schedule undertaken by all gym-class students prior to the annual Physical-Education Show.

The public was entertained by a variety of acts, including many different pyramids, a close-order drill, calisthenics, square dancing, and the "bop." All these acts illustrate the variety of activities performed in gym classes.

Grade school pupils demonstrated their skills, too, at ballet and tap-dancing.

The show drew to a close with square dancing by a group of high school pupils; then the "chills and spills" of the gym show, along with the worry of group captains and sponsors, was over for another year.

JoAnn Richter struggles to maintain her balance as "top man" on a mixed pyramid.

BOPS, BUMPS, AND BRUISES

Janis Humphrey and Pat Wiley "bop" to "Whole Lotta Shakin Goin On."

John Conrad dives over five chairs in a brand new routine.

SUSPENSE, COMEDY AT "MIDNIGHT"

In a scene from the Junior Class Play, Larry Kenward captures a "ghost" as Joyce Sanquist watches.

Linda Enquist and Joyce Sanquist are astonished to find that the "pretty ghost" Larry Kenward is photographing is the maid, Carol Rebout.

A secret room . . . New Year's Eve . . . muffled explosions . . . a houseful of visitors . . . a white-sheeted ghost: "Midnight" in an old deserted house.

Larry Kenward and Joyce Sanquist, reporters for the HERALD, arrive at Grandpa Greenwood's house on a ghost hunt. They find Aunt Julia, Linda Engquist, her maid, Carol Rebout, and her chauffeur, Lonnie Johnson, who plays ghost for a night. A mysterious foreign visitor, Bruce Werbach, enters carrying Barbara Hultman, who had been in a car accident. Mrs. Wick, Mary Rogers, does housecleaning at midnight and taps signals on the bookcase door--which opens to reveal a secret room and two men, Dave Wongstrom and Dave Gillespie, dressed in chemistry aprons. The lawyer for the estate, Harry Simkins, is sure there is a hidden treasure, and Bill Vincent and Nancy Clark are bound and determined to find it.

Under the direction of Mrs. Inez Kenward, the play netted the Junior Class $260.

Bill Vincent questions Bruce Werbach as he and Barbara Hultman enter the Greenwood house in a scene from the Junior Class Play.

Bruce Werbach shoots at Barbara Hultman as she screams, and faints.

MUSIC AND COLOR USHER IN SPRING

The brass section plays the melody while the reed instruments momentarily rest during the band concert at the spring program.

An annual event at CHS is the spring concert. At this happy time of the year, the boys', girls', and mixed choruses blend their voices in beautiful spring songs.

Not only were the songs "springy," but so was the apparel of the participants. Formals and suits were the order of dress for the evening.

Besides the vocal numbers, such as "Stout-hearted Men" and "Oklahoma," there was also the very fine band which presented a variety of music. "Block M March" set feet tapping with its stirring beat, while the sweet strains of the "Chal-let Overture: made many people think of Switzerland.

Spring was ushered in with music and color.

As a part of their performance in the spring concert, the boys' chorus solemnly sings "Hall of Ivy."

As the girls' chorus performs, their pastel evening dresses radiate a bright spring look.

GREEN MEN RULE MOON STATION

Refreshment time--punch is served from "steaming volcanoes" and a rocket-ship cake.

Green men are standing by smoking volcanoes. Overhead a rocket ship is poised and set for take-off. A galaxy of stars surrounds us.

No, we are not on the moon, but the decorations at the Freshman-Sophomore Hop transported us there. The sophs spent weeks designing and planning the entire evening around the theme, "A Trip to the Moon."

As a spotlight changing its color revolves on the rocket ship, the dancers whirl to the dreamy music.

At intermission, punch was served from steaming volcanoes and cake was enjoyed by the sophs and their guests, the freshmen, and faculty.

A few comments are exchanged as couples pass each other at the Hop's Moon Station.

A group gathers around the punch bowl to talk during intermission.

"SAYONARA" TO OUR SENIORS

The flurry of Prom activity begins long before sunset. The anxious girls and patient mothers fuss with sticky zippers and temperamental earrings. Nervous beaux stop at the floral shop for the dainty corsages and proudly present them to their glowing dates at the front door. Then it's into Dad's car and away to the banquet and the long evening ahead.

While awaiting the coronation and beginning of the dance, the guests are introduced to the sponsors. The king and queen are crowned, and a dreamy night of punch drinking and dancing ensues.

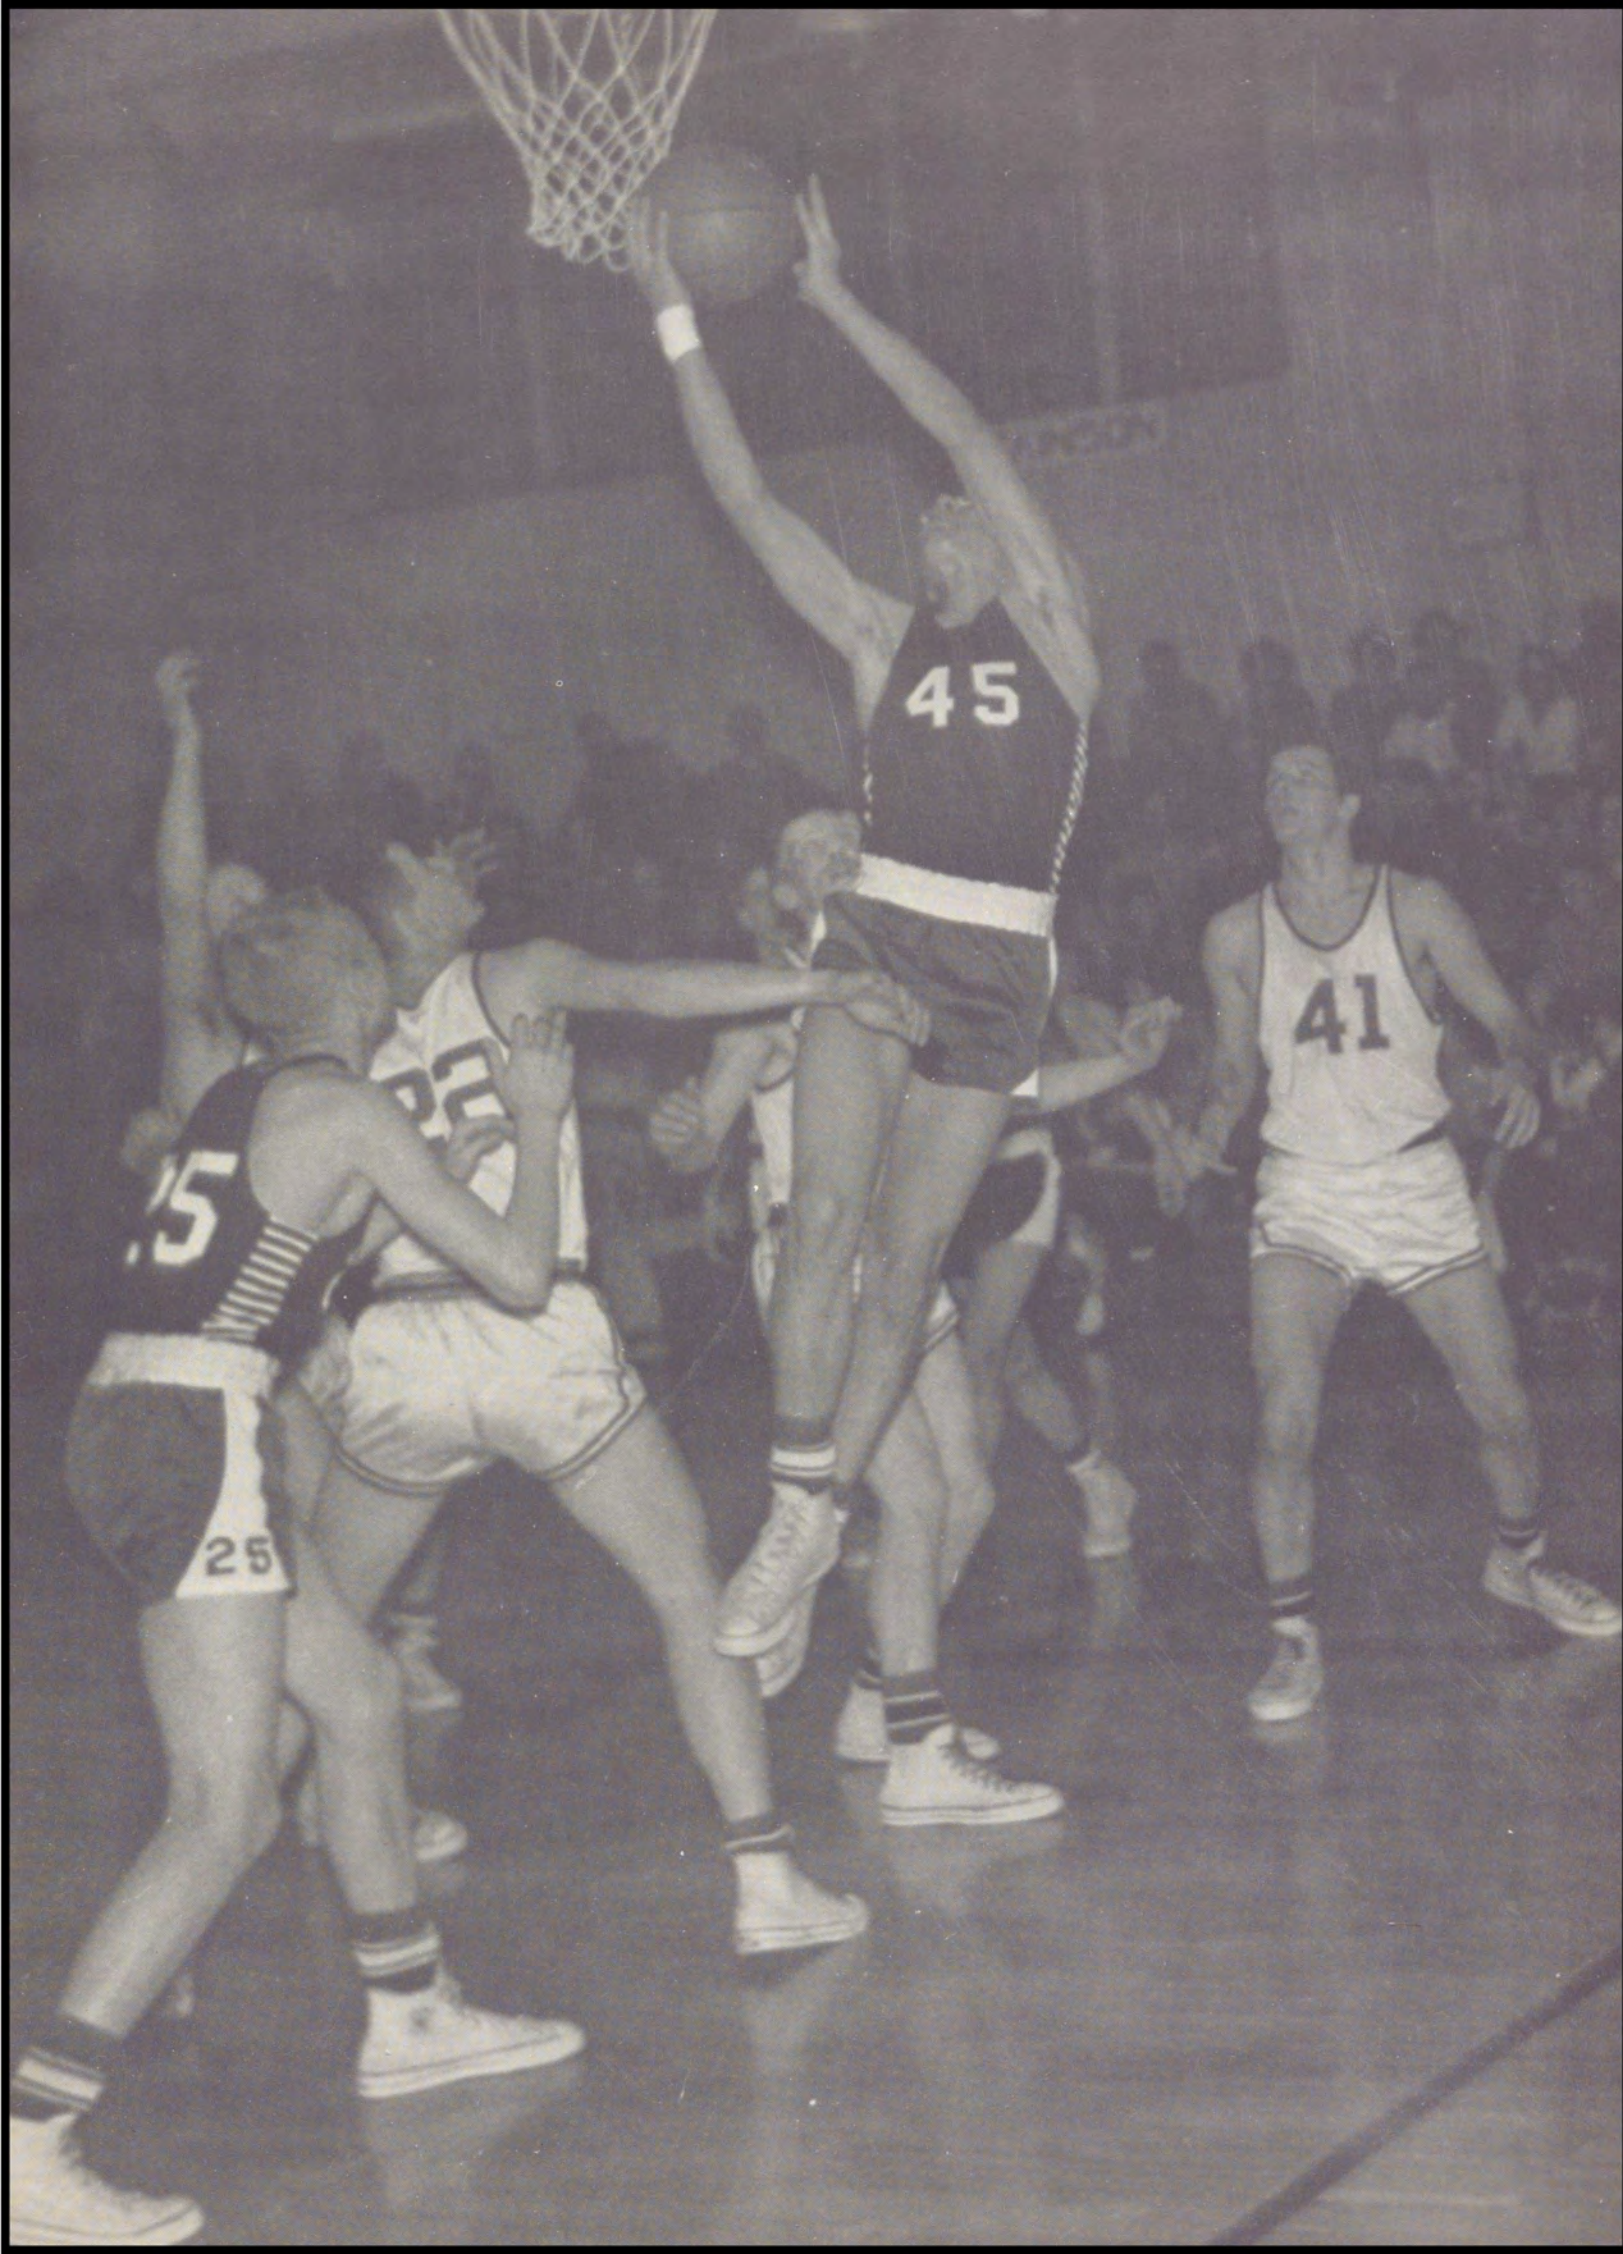

The hours grow longer and eyelids heavier during the movie, bowling, parties. Finally, as the sun climbs into view, the prom-goers finish the last of the breakfast and make their way home, each one filled with memories that will last a lifetime.

SEASON OF "GRUNTS, GROANS

At seven o'clock in the morning on August 27, 1957, the football season of "groans, grunts, and glory" started at Cambridge High. With only three lettermen on the squad, fans expected our team to place low in the conference standings. But by filling in the vacant spots with sophomores and juniors, Ken Atkinson coached our team to a tie for third place.

Our first game of the season was played on our local gridiron against a strong Erie team, who bolstered a one-hundred and ninety-five pound line. This game was our first victory of the season and proved to be an incentive for the games to follow.

Although we were shut out of the scoring column in our next game by Rockridge, it didn't seem to dampen the spirits of our fighting eleven, as we fought bravely to a tie with Orion, and then defeated Winola and Sherrard.

AND GLORY" BEGINS AT C. H. S.

Our homecoming was a happy one as we defeated Joy thirty-nine to six. Included in this game was a run of ninety-two yards by end, Bruce Werbach, on a kickoff return and an eighty yard scamper by end, Dennis Humphrey, on an end-around play.

In our last two games, we were not quite so successful as we were tied by Atkinson and were downed by a strong, undefeated Alwood team.

At season's end, we were in a tie for third place with Orion. Our record was three wins, two losses, and two ties. Although our record was not the greatest Cambridge has ever made, we found many possibilities in our squad and are hoping for a conference championship next year.

Coaches Atkinson, Doyle, and Rumley were prepared for the icy wind that accompanied our last game of the year.

GRIDIRON STRUGGLES BUILD MEN

Wingback Wayne Fickling scampers down the sideline toward a touchdown.

Lonnie Johnson blocks for Dave Wongstrom on a play that clicked often for Cambridge.

The opposing team moves in to hold Dave Wongstrom to a short gain.

FRESH-SOPH TEAM CONFERENCE CHAMPS . . .

Larry Carlson pauses momentarily as he is about to make a pass.

Parents and students who saw the junior-varsity team in action realized we had a top-notch fresh-soph squad.

With Alan Rumley as coach, the boys romped over Geneseo, Wethersfield, and Galva in the first three games of the season and won all except two conference games.

The C.H.S. trophy case now sports the "nubbin," traveling junior Ear'o Corn, and the Cornbelt Conference Fresh-Soph championship trophy.

Jump ball! Jim Peterson tips the ball out of the opponent's reach.

Careful records are kept at each game Cambridge plays. Here Coaches Atkinson and Rumley go over the charts from the last game.

Our hopes were high, but our chances were slim as we began the basketball season with only three lettermen returning.

We met the larger schools of Geneseo, Wethersfield, and Galva in three nonconference games at the first of the season, and subsequently lost the games, but romped over Winola and Sherrard in conference plays.

At the Cornbelt Conference tourney, the Vikings were pitted against arch rival Orion. The scores rocked back and forth until the fourth quarter, when the Chargers dumped more baskets to win, 62 to 48.

This coming year, with five lettermen returning and the cream of the crop of conference champion sophomores, we are looking forward to a record that will capture the conference title and bring the spirit of victory to our campus once more.

SPRING WEATHER, WINDY DAYS:

Early this spring, some Cambridge residents that live close to our school probably saw mysterious looking beings trotting up and down the streets surrounding our campus. These boys were members of our track squad trying to get in condition for the coming track season and keeping warm at the same time.

Our opening meet was a nonconference dual meet with Wethersfield. This first track meet proved to be a sort of experiment testing their abilities in the different events--shot-put, discus, hurdles, and so on.

John Gustafson, David Hutchinson, and Rolland Johnson, managers of the teams here at CHS, do many other "odd jobs" around school. Here they get the tractor ready to do some mowing.

Larry Galle winds up for a discus throw.

TRACK SEASON IS HERE

On a cold, windy May sixth, the Cornbelt Conference Track Meet was held in the local stadium. No records were broken although all conditions were good except for the temperature. The favored Winola won the meet with Orion taking second and Alwood third. Cambridge placed sixth in the meet. However, many of our boys were underclassmen and should keep us in the running for the next few years.

Larry A. Johnson goes over the high jump bar in a practice session for the track meet.

Fresh-Soph Track Meet, and the runners for the 100 yard dash begin the sprint.

Melvin VanRie lands well out in the sand pit in practice for the broad jump.

SUMMER PRACTICE FOR CHEERLEADERS

"Give a yell, give a rah, give a great big cheer!" Cheerleaders sweep through the motions to a rousing cheer and end with a "freeze" on high jump. Few spectators realize how much work it takes to become a top-notch cheerleader.

In the spring, the student body selects varsity cheerleaders. That summer the squad attends a cheerleading clinic where they learn the fundamentals and rules of good cheerleading. Two or three nights a week during the summer are spent working up routines and new cheers. By fall, the girls are ready and waiting for the first football game!

In the fall comes the election of Fresh-Soph cheerleaders. These girls work just as hard as the older squad, for their ambition is to become varsity cheerleaders and lead the Vikings to more victories!

FIRST WE ARE FRESHMEN

FRESHMAN CLASS, FIRST ROW: G. Hutchinson, J. Dobbels, C. Grant, B. Hickenbottom, L. Johnson, M. Johnson, R. Hultman, P. Ziegler, D. Stevens, W. Weyland. SECOND ROW: D. Bertelsen, T. Anderson, L. Neumann, A. Wiley, B. Anderson, W. Robinson, S. Harris, K. Caldwell, J. Edmund, B. Howell. THIRD ROW: S. Bratch, P. Wells, J. Utech, F. Charlet, L. Bloom, P. Poulsen, J. Richter, R. Calsyn, G. Moore, G. Down. FOURTH ROW: C. Ludington, R. Hutchinson, J. Olson, M. Johnson, P. Evans, S. Wislander, B. Anderson, L. Kaiser, L. Lief. FIFTH ROW: L. Carlson, M. Van Rie, J. Woods, N. Moore, R. Moore.

After "formal" acceptance into C.H.S. at Initiation, the freshmen joined organizations and participated in various activities.

At Carnival time, the first-year students gave a bake sale and did odd jobs. As a result of their zest and enthusiasm, their candidates for the throne, Gloria Down and Bob Anderson, were crowned king and queen.

All three Junior Varsity yell leaders were freshmen, and frosh team members helped win the Freshman-Sophomore conference championship.

The class of '61 has started a successful high school career due to the combined efforts of the class, the officers, and the sponsors.

FICERS AND SPON-
SORS: Larry Carlson,
Scott Harris, Nancy Stei-
ner, Roberta Calsyn,
Miss Maras, Mr. Hack.

The freshmen demonstrated vision testing devices from driver training class to their parents at P.T.A. Judy Nelson, Maridell Johnson, and Nancy Steiner show Mr. Smith how machine operates.

Already the freshmen have become valuable members of the organizations at CHS. Here Pam Wells sells UNESCC stamps for the Future Homemakers.

The sophomores, being the largest class in school, participated in practically every activity besides working with energy and interest for their class.

To boost their candidates, Barbara Drescher and Jim Peterson, for Carnival, they sponsored a public coffee party. The Sock Hop after the last basketball game of the regular season was a soph project.

At the Sweetheart Ball, Bob Naslund and Beverly Moody, the honored students, were chosen from the sophomore class.

In athletics, the sophomores were well represented, with many lettermen. Mary Maynard and Joan Finnicum were Varsity Cheerleaders for the football and basketball seasons.

A rocket ship and little green men greeted the freshmen who were guests at Hop. The modern and imaginative theme took long hours of work and much planning.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS AND SPONSORS: Mrs. Kenward, Wayne Fickling, Mr. Shutt, Emily Cederburg, Norman Johnson, Marvin Mariman.

SOPHOMORE CLASS, FIRST ROW: R. Charlson, D. Howser, D. Schamp, C. Scovil, S. Thompson, A. Kneuppel, C. Johnson, K. Opalka, M. Maynard, K. Peterson, B. Kneuppel, B. Naslund, B. Wells, L. Lewis. SECOND ROW: J. Ole, C. Way, S. Smith, D. Smith, S. Stach, K. Sheese, J. Lindquist, E. Cederberg, V. Grant, J. Finnicum, L. Horberg, B. Drescher, M. Mariman, N. Johnson. THIRD ROW: D. Downing, J. Lindquist, K. German, L. Johnson, C. Johnson, B. Carlson, T. Swan, R. Witt, G. Swanson, M. Ericson, B. Howell, K. Johnson, D. Telleen, G. Munson. FOURTH ROW: V. Van Dyke, S. Arnstedt, D. Ayres, K. Beverly Moody hands Hop invitations to freshmen Phyllis Evans and Scott Harris.

One of the many sophs out for sports, John Conrad increases his lead in running the mile.

Every Monday morning sophs who eat in the school cafeteria pay their lunch money to Janis Humphrey, Marvin Mariman, Dave Telleen, and Rolland Johnson are about to pay for the coming week's lunches.

JUNIOR CLASS SPONSORS AND OFFICERS: Miss Miller, Mr. Utech, Joyce Sanquist, Jim Wexell, Larry Kenward, and Lanny Anderson.

SUDDENLY WE

Eleanor Gardner, Carol Rebout, and Mary Rogers compare their new junior class rings during the noon hour.

The juniors meet with President Joyce Sanquist in the library to plan their big event of the year, the Prom.

Suddenly we are juniors . . . and the class had the honor of choosing class rings. "Golden Flare," the ring design chosen, arrived in November, and juniors proudly displayed their rings to all of the other students.

In the athletic departments, the junior boys were the backbone of C.H.S. teams in all three major sports. With "Vinnie," "Davey," Lonnie, Bruce and the rest of the team members back next year, everyone hopes for winning teams. Karen Vincent was a varsity cheerleader.

In March, came tryouts for the Junior Class Play, "Midnight." The cast and crew worked almost every night to learn lines and cues. At the play on April 12, they netted $260 toward future projects.

Prom, "Sayonara," represented numerous planning sessions and much detailed work on the part of the class. Cherry blossoms, Mt. Fuji, and two dragons contributed to the Oriental atmosphere.

In April, the juniors registered for the next year's classes and selected the final slate of class officers, feeling ready to accept the responsibility that being seniors involves.

Ronnie Simkins, Lonnie Johnson, Linda Engquist, Nancy Clark, and Bill Vincent rehearse a scene from the Junior Class Play, "Midnight."

JUNIOR CLASS, FIRST ROW: M. Rogers, N. Clark, J. Sanquist, S. Tucker, C. Rebout, J. Richter, K. Vincent, R. Gardner, J. Beuseling. SECOND ROW: L. Beck, O. Downing, L. Hathaway, L. Johnson, L. Kenward, B. Vincent, D. Gillespie, J. Wexell, L. Johnson. THIRD ROW: B. Johnson, C. Kane, K. Kaiser, S. German, H. Simkins, B. Werbach, L. Borg, F. Ziegler, B. Hultman. FOURTH ROW: S. Moore, E. Gardner, A. Lunde, L. Engquist, J. Matson, L. Galle, B. Westerlund, D. Wongstrom, D. Walsh, J. Bertelsen, R. Ely, M. Good.

SENIOR OFFICERS: Richard McNaught, Judy Davis, Sharon Humphrey, Janis Humphrey.

Judy Davis helps her class by selling tickets to one of our home basketball games.

The long-awaited pleasure of initiating the freshmen was the seniors' first task at the beginning of the year. After this bit of frivolity was over, however, the class settled down to the more serious business of studying.

At Homecoming, Janis Humphrey and Dennis Humphrey were crowned king and queen of the evening. To buy votes for the senior carnival candidates, Dean Coffin and Karen Smith, they washed cars and hauled junk.

In November the seniors make a trip to Moline to have senior class pictures taken.

The traditional senior project of making and selling programs for the home games was a money-making project for the class trip to Starved Rock.

As graduation drew nigh the seniors regretted the fact that their high school days were over but looked forward to attending college and beginning on careers.

C. H. S. WINDS UP SCHOOL YEAR

At the end of every school term, plans are made for the following year. Student Council and cheerleader elections were held in the new cafeteria, with campaign speeches and tryouts beforehand.

After working hard all year, the FHA girls presented a style show for the P.T.A. Varied opinions were expressed as to the new style of "sack" or chemise some girls modeled.

The Honor Assembly also came as school ended. At this time, awards were presented, and the new officers and members of Student Council and Honor Society were installed and welcomed. The '58 Viking was dedicated to Mr. Utech at this assembly.

As another term closed, semesters loomed ahead. Since there was no school picnic, we had tests for three days.

School finally ended for another year with the distribution of report cards.

Students listen attentively to Joe "Fox" Talbot giving campaign speech for Student Council candidate.

Andrea Lunde models a chemise of her own design at the May P.T.A. meeting.

SMALLEST C. H. S. CLASS GRADUATES

The "end of the year" rush caught up with many of the seniors during their last week of school, but they managed to get everything done and still get to graduation rehearsals "almost" on time.

Baccalaureate was held on the Sunday before commencement. At this annual service, the whole community gathered to give the seniors its blessing. On Monday evening, the class enjoyed a dinner at Johnny Hartman's Restaurant in Davenport. The following day was the scene of the class trip to Starved Rock State Park.

Mixed feelings of happiness and sadness were present on graduation night, Thursday the twenty-ninth of May, as at every commencement. A stirring address entitled "A Challenge" was given by Judge Leonard E. Telleen. Finally, the long-awaited diplomas were presented by Leslie Fickling, President of the Board of Education.

As the recessional ended and the congratulations were finished, another class joined the alumni of C.H.S.

FROM HORSES TO HOT-RODS

Sixty-three years ago, the graduates of Cambridge High held their first reunion. Since that first meeting, an annual alumni banquet and dance has been held for the graduates each year. On the Friday following graduation, the alumni gathered in the new cafeteria for the evening of entertainment. A delicious dinner was served by twelve junior waitresses. After the business meeting, welcome of the class of '58, some short reminiscences by representatives of honored classes, everyone went to the gymnasium for an evening of dancing to music furnished by the popular school dance band, the "Blue Notes."

Mr. Dwayne Stephens conducts a short business meeting after the alumni banquet.

VIKING '58 LEAVES ITS FOOTPRINTS

As this harrowing year slides to a close with the mailing of the final year-book copy, I should like to pause a moment and reminisce.

The N.S.P.A. Conference . . . Carnival . . . invaluable lessons taught by experience . . . late hours . . . "growing pains" as the staff and I strove to make the '58 Viking a true picture of life at Cambridge High . . . all these and more . . . crowd my memory.

I would like to add "a job well done" to those on the Viking staff. And to Miss Elisabeth Westerlund, our adviser, I express my sincere gratitude for her help this year. My especial "thanks" also to Mr. Philip Shutt, carnival sponsor, to Mr. William Schultz and Mr. Ted Bolt, photographers, to Mr. M. L. Gardner, American Yearbook Company representative, and to Mr. Albert Smith and the office staff, who have patiently given me information and passes when my picture-taking ran overtime.

Happy reading!
Andrea Lunde, Editor

The Viking staff gives votes unanimously for the cover of the Viking.

IN MEMORIAM

Midway through the school year, C.H.S. lost one of its favorite members. Frank Cousins was more than a custodian. He was everyone's friend, stranger to no student, and had an intense interest in everything that happened within the walls of the school. Frank, as he was known, never missed a single athletic event or party, and he knew each student intimately. All C.H.S. mourned the loss of one of its best-loved personalities, but it seems that Frank is still watching us, whether we're in a crowded gym, or in a classroom surrounded by all the things that Frank loved.
